Adj. Gen. Hearn, Aide Fired by Governor for 'Taking Part in Politics'

GETS THE JOB
Acting Adj. Gen. Camp

GETS THE AX
Ex-Adj. Gen. Hearn

Charge False, Replies State Defense Chief

Gov. Griffin Tuesday summarily fired Adj. Gen. George J. Hearn and a state Defense department aide who is openly supporting Lt. Gov. Ernest Vandiver for governor.

Griffin ousted the aide, Col. Charles T. White, by abolishing his job.

Contacted Tuesday night at his home in Monroe, Hearn denied any participation in politics and indicated the governor's action had caught him by surprise.

Vandiver lambasted the action as "vicious use of gubernatorial power."

"SPEAKS FOR ITSELF"

Griffin's order dismissing Hearn gave no specific reasons for the action. He said the order "speaks for itself."

But pressed by reporters, he agreed there was a connection between the action and his ban on "politicking" among members of his administration.

"If you want to reduce the effectiveness of any department, just let it get honeycombed with politics," Griffin declared.

The governor has repeatedly declared that he intends to play no part in next year's gubernatorial battle although his former highway chief, Roger H. Lawson, is an avowed candidate.

He has also declared he will tolerate no political activity by members of his administration. Some are known to favor Lawson and others, Vandiver.

"NO APOLOGIES"

"I feel that I have not played any politics whatsoever while I've been adjutant general," Hearn declared at Monroe. "I have no apologies for any of the actions I've taken in office.

"All I know is that I was at Dublin carrying out my official duties as adjutant general (at the dedication of a National Guard Armory) when I received a telegram from Gov. Griffin informing me of my dismissal.

"Such action is entirely within the governor's prerogative, of course," Hearn said, "and I have no quarrel with the governor.

"I do feel that I performed the duties of my office to the best of my ability and in the best interests of the people of Georgia," he said.

House Backs Soil Bank in A Reversal

WASHINGTON, July 9 (AP)—The House today reversed its stand of two months ago and voted to continue the Eisenhower administration's soil bank farm program for one more year. There wasn't even a fight about it.

The switch came on a voice vote which passed and sent to the Senate the annual agriculture appropriations bill. Senate approval seems certain.

On May 15 the House voted 192-187 to kill the major part of the soil bank plan at the end of this year. Critics charged it was marked by waste and mismanagement. Supporters argued it went into effect so late in the year it hadn't been given a fair trial.

SENATE FORCED NEW VOTE

The Senate balked at this House action and voted funds to continue full operation of the soil bank. A Senate-House conference committee then drafted a compromise bill, including the soil bank money which was voted on today.

As passed by the House, the bill gives the Agriculture Department some 3½ billion dollars for the fiscal year which began July 1. This was some 365 million dollars less than President Eisenhower had requested and nearly 100 millions less than the House voted originally.

The section of the soil bank involved in the House reversal was the acreage reserve feature. Under this farmers are paid for taking out of production land which has been used to grow basic crops in surplus supply.

The House originally voted nothing for this plan while the Senate voted 500 million dollars. The Senate figure was accepted in the compromise.

SOME CHANGES ORDERED

Some changes in the soil bank would be ordered by the compromise measure. One would limit to $3,000 the amount of soil bank payments that could be made to any one farmer during 1958. Another would require that all benefits be paid by Sept. 15, 1958.

The compromise also calls for tightening up administration of the second part of the soil bank—the conservation reserve. The bill directs the secretary of agriculture to "give careful consideration" to the value of land converted to trees, grass and other long range conservation purposes. Farmers receive payments for such practices.

Conservation reserve payments in 1958 under the bill could total 325 million dollars. The House voted 250 millions and the Senate 350 millions.

Ivan Allen Jr. Considers Seeking Governorship

By WILLIAM M. BATES

Atlanta businessman Ivan Allen Jr., president of the State Chamber of Commerce, is thinking strongly of jumping into next year's gubernatorial contest as an "independent" candidate.

Allen, who for many years was associated with the anti-Talmadge faction of Georgia politics, said he is "very interested" in the developing race although "it is a number of months off."

"I'm giving serious consideration to entering the race in order to further the thing I'm most interested in—bringing new industries into the state and developing those that are here," he said in an interview.

Allen's statement was the second indication within a week that the 1958 election may not be limited to Lt. Gov. Ernest Vandiver and former Highway Chairman Roger H. Lawson.

Rep. Charles L. Gowen of Brunswick, an uncussessful gubernatorial candidate in 1954, has shown signs in recent days of reviving his interest in a second bid for the governorship. It generally had been thought that Gowen had decided to run for lieutenant governor next year.

Allen emphasized that if he runs it will be as an "independent" and not as a candidate of any faction. But he can probably bank on the solid support of many leaders of the anti-Talmadge group which virtually has disappeared as an organized faction.

SERVED RIVERS, ARNALL

Allen served as secretary-treasurer of the State Hospital Authority and as a member of the State Board of Education under former Gov. E. D. Rivers. He was one of the speakers at ceremonies honoring Rivers at Lakeland last week.

The 46-year-old Atlanta business executive also served for a time as former Gov. Ellis Arnall's executive secretary. He was active in behalf of M. E. Thompson's gubernatorial races in 1948 and 1954 but supported Herman Talmadge for the Senate last year.

If he runs, Allen will be bucking a theory that an Atlanta man can't be elected governor. But Allen discounted the theory and declared his own strong support of the county unit system.

"OUR WAY OF LIFE"

Allen also emphasized his staunch support of racial segregation but declared that "segregation is our way of life and not a political football."

"Healthy, prosperous and strong counties and a strong county unit system are one of our great advantages in maintaining segregation," Allen declared.

Allen made it clear his campaign platform, if he runs, would be pitched on the "development of industry in the state and the maintenance and continuation of a favorable business climate."

Woman Dies In 6-Floor Leap Here

An Atlanta woman Tuesday plunged six floors to her death from a Peachtree street hotel window as dozens of horrified passersby looked on, police said.

She was identified as Mrs. Allene M. Chrisman, 47, former department store employe, who resided at a rooming house on The Prado, NE.

Several persons screamed when they saw her in a seventh-story window. Police said motorists in the afternoon rush-hour traffic slammed on brakes as the body hurtled downward and landed on a metal canopy 10 feet above the sidewalk.

Mrs. Chrisman was pronounced dead upon arrival at Grady Hospital.

REGISTERED FRIDAY

Detectives H. E. Burdett and W. B. Blackwell said they were told Mrs. Chrisman registered at the hotel at 5:25 p.m. Friday under the name "Mrs. Lois Roberts" and gave her business address as New York City.

B. N. Hull, manager of the Cox Carlton Hotel at 683 Peachtree St., said Mrs. Chrisman told him her baggage would arrive later. Detectives said she left the rooming house Friday and took no luggage.

Four days to the minute after she was registered by the hotel, detectives said, Mrs. Chrisman plunged to her death.

LEAVES SHOES

She was clothed, except for her shoes, which detectives said were found in the room.

Detectives said a witness, Mrs. Jeanie Rorer, of 1503 Peachtree St., described seeing a body in the seventh-floor window. Others looked up and screamed as the form plummeted downward, detectives related.

Detectives said the screen from the window had been taken out and placed in a closet.

Russell Challenges Nixon Ruling, Insists It Permits Rights Bill Error

By ALBERT RILEY
Constitution Washington Bureau

WASHINGTON, July 9—The Southern fight against civil rights legislation took a bitter tone today as Sen. Russell caustically challenged a parliamentary ruling by Vice President Nixon.

Russell told the Senate, however, that he would not insist on a vote to override Nixon's ruling because he didn't want the Dixie forces to be accused of filibustering on it.

Nor would he even insist on raising a point of order, Russell added with great sarcasm, because it was "quite obvious" how the vice president would decide, anyhow.

TOUCHES OFF TEMPERS

Tempers rose over the parliamentary ruling late in the Senate's second day of debate over a motion by Republican Leader Knowland (Calif) to take up the civil rights bill.

Coming at the end of a long and scholarly argument against the bill by Sen. Fulbright (D-Ark), the dispute touched off a heated wrangle between Southerners and Republican senators who are seeking to force quick passage of the bill.

To avoid extremism, the Southerners put moderate Sen. Fulbright into the lead-off position. He centered his attack on the non-jury trial aspect of the administration's bill.

FOUR TIMES GUARANTEED

He asserted that politicians from "the great metropolitan areas" and reformers, exasperated at the law's delays, were attempting to interfere in the South with a right—that of trial by jury—that was four times guaranteed in the Constitution.

French Okay All-European Market Pact

By HAROLD CALLENDER
(Copyright 1957 by The New York Times Co.)

PARIS, July 9—The greatest single step yet taken toward European economic union was assumed by France today.

The National Assembly voted by 342 to 239 to ratify the treaties to create a European common market and a nuclear pool.

The common market treaty was adopted by 342-234; then the Euratom treaty was passed by 322 to 240; then the bill authorizing ratification of the two was passed by 342 to 239.

APPROVAL SEEN

None doubted that the lower house, the Council of the Republic, would concur later this month. It therefore appeared virtually certain that the two treaties, already ratified by the West German Bunderstag, would be ratified this year by the other four signatories and would take effect by Jan. 1, 1958.

This would mean that all tariffs on nuclear materials would be abolished by Jan. 1, 1959, and that by this same date the first general reduction of tariffs on all goods exchanged among the six nations would take place. This reduction will be 10 per cent.

NATIONS LISTED

The six nations that will form the European Economic Community, or common market, and the European Atomic Energy Community (called Euratom) are France, West Germany, Italy, Belgium, The Netherlands and Luxembourg.

The first community would integrate the economics of the six nations in 12 to 15 years by gradually eliminating tariffs and other trade barriers among them, by facilitating movement of capital and labor within the community, by a European investment

Police Lt. Cox To Head New Vice Squad

By KEELER McCARTNEY

Police Lt. W. M. Cox Tuesday was appointed head of the new metropolitan vice squad as five governmental agencies pledged anew to cooperate in a concerted drive to stamp out lottery.

Chief Herbert Jenkins said he had conferred with Fulton Sol. Gen. Paul Webb and Criminal Court Sol. John F. Kelley earlier in the day and that both strongly recommended Cox for the job.

Lt. W. M. Cox

The appointment was announced at a meeting Tuesday afternoon between police officials, representatives of the two solicitors' offices and Chief Deputy Leroy Stynchcombe of the sheriff's office.

The GBI was not represented at the meeting. However, Jenkins said GBI agent Robert McCutcheon had been assigned to work with the squad.

BENNETT

Stynchcombe said tentative plans from the sheriff's office are to assign deputy John Bennett to the squad. A former member of the Fulton County police force, Bennett transferred to the sheriff's office in 1951 and worked on the vice squad there.

His present assignment is deputy in Fulton Criminal Court.

Investigators Lewis Clyburn, of Webb's office, and George Carter, of Kelley's office, attended the meeting. They said they had been assigned to work with the squad and instructed to pledge full cooperation of their offices.

Cox, who has headed the Detective Bureau burglary squad for 12 years, called a meeting of the new squad for 9 a.m. Wednesday in the courthouse.

COOPERATION

A spirit of cooperation which dominated a meeting Monday night between Jenkins, Kelley, Webb, Stynchcombe, Ald. Ed A. Gilliam and Col. W. C. Dominy, state director of public safety,

Atlantan Bitten By a Copperhead

An Atlantan Tuesday was admitted to Grady Hospital after being bitten by a copperhead.

Hubert James Chadwick, 42, of 512 Gerry Rd., NW, said he was in the back yard of his home when the snake coiled about his right leg. Chadwick said he attempted to shake the snake off and it struck him on the right ankle.

His condition was reported as satisfactory.

Threw Out Black Sheep by the Tail, Khrushchev Explains for Czechs

PRAGUE, Czechoslovakia, July 9 (AP)—"We took the black sheep by the tail and threw them out."

That is Nikita Khrushchev's explanation of last week's Moscow purge. He gave it to a Czechoslovak audience today as he and Soviet Premier Nikolai Bulganin arrived for a week's visit.

Way to oust three ex-leaders from party is cleared. Page 8.

"It's no secret what happened in the Soviet Union recently," said Khrushchev. "We announced it ourselves. We had some black sheep in a good herd. They thought they would take over power, and you know how it ended.

"We took the black sheep by the tail and threw them out."

Khrushchev drew cheers from the crowd he was addressing, largely factory workers, at Zilina.

He and Bulganin, along with Antonin Movotny, Czech Communist chief, were on a 500-mile train trip from the Soviet-Czech border to Prague. They are due here tomorrow.

Khrushchev gave his endorsement to Novotny as "one of the great sons of the Czechoslovak people." He implied Novotny's job is safe "if the party of Gottwald is with us, and I am convinced it is."

Klement Gottwald succeeded Eduard Benes as president when the Communists took over this country in 1948. Benes died four years ago.

"The Czech Communist party fully supported us and the decisions of the 20th party Congress. That is friendship."

Czechoslovakia, recognized abroad as one of the staunchest pillars of communism in Eastern Europe, is a nation of dramatic contradictions. Politically, its upper crust is made up of fanatical Communists much more difficult to deal with than Kremlin bureaucrats.

Its Communist party and government leaders are all old Stalinists. Thus Khrushchev must have found some difficulty on his long train trip with Novotny, explaining the Kremlin's anti-Stalinist purge.

Below the stiff party leadership, the Czechs are surprisingly open and surprisingly objective in discussing their national problems and politics.

Czechs make no secret of their desire to intensify their relations with Western Europe.

Several Quizzed In Shovel Slaying

Several persons were questioned Tuesday in the shovel slaying of an Atlanta man and a savage attack upon his mother but no definite evidence has been found, police said.

Meantime, Mrs. Carrie B. Hanbury, 79, of 790 Stewart Ave., SW, was reported still in serious condition at Georgia Baptist Hospital. Mrs. Hanbury suffered severe head injuries Sunday and her son, Robert Hanbury, 53, was killed, when attacked at their home.

Lt. R. E. Little said Mrs. Hanbury had undergone surgery.

$1.5 Million Allocated To Activate Sick Leave Plan for State Teachers

The State Board of Education allocated $1.5 million Tuesday to put into effect a statewide sick leave plan for Georgia school-teachers.

Funds will be distributed to the local systems on a basis of $50 per teacher.

Any of the money not needed for sick leave payments may be used at the discretion of local boards to supplement teacher salaries.

State Department of Education officials said they were not sure whether the $1.5 million would fully pay for the sick leave plan.

A sick leave law is already on the statute books but was not activated until the state board released the money Tuesday.

The law allows one and one-quarter days of sick leave for each working month, or a total of 11¼ days per year. It is cumulative throughout the year but cannot be carried over.

By BRUCE GALPHIN

Frank Hughes, president of the Georgia Education Assn., told the board that a few systems already have sick leave plans paid with local funds.

In the majority of Georgia schools, however, teachers must pay substitutes when they themselves are sick.

The allocation constitute a victory for the GEA, which had protested use of the $1.5 million for supplements to teachers who work extra hours. Activation of the sick leave law was one of the alternatives proposed by the GEA.

In other business the board rejected an appeal by the residents of the Tennile area over the Washington County Board of Education's plan to locate a new consolidated white high school in Sandersville.

The appellants reminded the state board that the local board had agreed in 1953 to locate the school between the two towns so that the Tennile group would drop a law suit attacking the validity of a State School Building Authority bond issue.

ACCUSED SPY PEERS FROM HIS PARIS APARTMENT
Former U.S. Officer George Zlatovski Asks Asylum

Spy Case Ridiculous, Insists U.S. Couple

PARIS, July 9 (AP)—An American couple tonight declared charges they had spied for Russia are false and ridiculous. Earlier in the day they told reporters in agitated tones that France was giving them political asylum, but the French said this was not the case.

Russian-born George Zlatoski and his wife Jane, of San Francisco, were indicted yesterday by a federal grand jury in New York on charges of conspiring to transmit vital U.S. secrets to the Soviet Union.

"We have chosen to live in France since 1949 and the French authorities are perfectly informed about the American pretensions," they said in a brief statement.

"The information concerning us—such as we have read it in the press—is straight out of a novel. Everything in it is false, and moreover ridiculous."

The couple shut themselves up in their apartment. If returned to the United States for trial and convicted, they could be given the death penalty.

Earlier in the day, Zlatovski had raised the issue of political asylum as a possible defense against being returned to the United States.

"The French have given us political asylum," the former U.S. Army intelligence officer told reporters who found him in a walk-up left bank apartment. "We are their guests."

"NOT YET ARISEN"

"The question has not yet arisen," a Foreign Ministry spokesman said. "The United States has not yet asked for extradition."

The U.S. Embassy confirmed no formal request has yet been made for custody of the couple, indicted by a federal grand jury in New York Monday as active members of a Kremlin-directed espionage ring for which three others face sentencing July 29.

But moves toward a request for their return were under way.

In New York, Federal District Judge Thomas F. Murphy signed bench warrants for their apprehension.

U.S. Atty. Paul W. Williams announced the warrants will be forwarded to the State Department with a request that the department "take steps formally to notify the French government of the indictment against the Zlatovskis, stating in effect that we would like to have them back in this country."

NO OBLIGATION

"Theirs is not an extraditable offense and it must be stressed that the French government is technically under no (treaty) obligation to extradite the couple," Williams said. "But there is nothing to stop the French government from acting on its own."

The three spies awaiting sentence in New York are Myra and Jack Soble and Jacob Albam. Arrested by the FBI last January, they have pleaded guilty to charges of conspiring to gather information vital to the defense of the United States, knowing it was to be transmitted to Russia.

Zlatovski, for many years a lieutenant in U.S. Army intelligence, is registered with the French police as an engineer. He declined to tell reporters where he worked or what sort of engineering he did.

Ike Chooses Narragansett For Vacation

WASHINGTON, July 9 (UP)—President Eisenhower has chosen a naval base off fashionable Newport, R. I., for his vacation this summer "if and when", he takes one, the White House announced today.

The base, site of the U. S. Naval College, is located on Coaster's Harbor Island in Narragansett Bay. It would provide the President with a secluded haven for relaxation and exercise in the surf and sun.

Its proximity to Newport would put the President near one of the nation's most famous resorts. The bay shoreline is dotted with luxurious summer homes built by New York socialites.

Eisenhower's plans, like those of a lot of other people in the capital, depend to a large extent on what Congress does. He normally would not start his vacation until after Congress adjourned.

But Press Secretary James C. Hagerty said it was possible the President would leave beforehand this year since the Senate is expected to be tied up in a civil rights fight most of the summer.

House Republican Leader John W. Martin Jr. said after a White House legislative conference today that if the Senate gave the House permission to recess during the debate there would be "no reason why the President could not take a vacation too."

Ike Insists Allies Try Off-Duty GI

Treaty Change Called Unwise

By C. P. TRUSSELL
(Copyright 1957 by The New York Times Co.)

WASHINGTON, July 9—President Eisenhower reemphasized to his congressional leaders today his strong opposition to pending legislation designed to assure full U.S. jurisdiction in trials of American servicemen for crimes committed off-duty overseas.

At issue is a matter that has taken on political tinges. It concerns the status of forces treaty with NATO countries, supplemented by similar agreements elsewhere in the world.

A controversy has developed in Japan, where army Spec. 3. C. Girard killed a Japanese woman who was scavenging metal from a rifle range. He hit her with an empty shell fired from a grenade launcher.

TO SUPREME COURT

The U.S. government has turned the trial proceedings over to Japan, under a status-of-forces agreement but a Girard appeal is now before the Supreme Court.

The leglislation in controversy is sponsored by Rep. Bow (R-Ohio). It proposes that the status-of-forces treaties and agreements either be modified drastically or cancelled. The proposal had widespread appeal in the House even before the Girard case developed.

The President supported arguments by the Defense and State departments that:

1. Severe modification or abrogation of status-of-forces agreements could well shatter the defense posture of the free world against communism.

DEFENSE DESTROYED

2. Allied defense against communism would be destroyed through the refusal by Allies to surrender their right to take off-duty crimes by American GIs into their own courts.

3. Ruptures or cancellation of present agreements would lead to a lack of welcome of U.S. troops at overseas bases that are vital to defense against enemy attacks that could spread to this country.

4. Withdrawal of American forces from key defense positions abroad would force the United States to retreat behind a "Fortress America" plan of defense.

5. Key bases that could be lost by the United States include those paramount in the whole free world defense program, and might block American bases "indispensable" to development of intermediate and intercontinental range missiles.

10-HOUR GUN DUEL

Sixth U.N. Order Ends Syrian-Israeli Battle

JERUSALEM, July 9 (UP)—Syrian and Israeli forces clashed in a 10-hour gunfire and mortar duel today along their mountainous frontier. The battle finally stopped after six appeals by the United Nations for a ceasefire.

Both sides blamed each other for starting the battle, first major flareup in the tense Arab-Israeli situation since the Sinai Peninula campaign last fall.

An Israeli army spokesman said Syrian gun positions perched atop a 640-foot ridge opened a mortar barrage at noon 6 a.m. (EDT) against the collective farm settlement of Gonen nestled in the Huleh Valley of Northeastern Israel.

The spokesman said the Syrians ignored 5 cease-fire orders from the U.N. Armistice Commission before finally heeding a 6th appeal to stop.

(In Damascus, a Syrian army spokesman said Israel started the battle. He said Israeli armored cars opened fire and that Syrian troops returned the fire until told to stop by the U.N. He said the Israelis ignored the U.N. and continued firing with mortars.)

Col. Nehmiah Brosh, the Israeli army spokesman, said that after nine hours of firing, one Israeli had been killed and seven wounded.

(Syrian spokesmen said there were no Syrian military casualties but that two Arab women and two children were wounded by Israeli mortar shells.)

Israel charged that the Syrians started the battle with machine-gun fire that sprayed an Israeli police patrol crossing the Huleh swamp 120 yards across the Syrian border.

One of the men was wounded and when the patrol tried to rescue him, the Syrians opened up with mortars, a spokesman said.

Israel complained that the Syrians ignored U.N. orders to stop shooting.

The Israeli cabinet, already in emergency session here, demanded an immediate meeting with the acting chief of the U.N. truce supervision organization, Col. Bryon Leary.

Syrians kidnaped an Israeli soldier at Gonen in 1955 and Israel seized five Syrians in return. In June of last year Israelis fighting a field fire were shot at. Last January Syrian fire wounded a Gonen farmer. Two weeks later Syrians fired on the town again.

Israel's cabinet was meeting here to discuss foreign affairs problems in connection with the coming European visit of Foreign Minister Golda Meir.

Super-Fuel Will Let B58 Circle Globe on a Tankful

NIAGARA FALLS, N.Y., July 9 (AP)—The Defense department today revealed the first steps leading to production of a high-energy jet engine fuel it says will enable the giant B58 bomber to fly around the world without refueling.

The fuel, produced by the Olin Mathieson Chemical Co., is called HEF-2. It will increase the efficiency of a jet engine by up to 50 per cent, the company said.

The company laid a symbolic cornerstone of a new plant that, when completed, will be the first commercial source of HEF-2. The plant will cost 36 million dollars. It is being financed by the Air Force.

At the same time, the company opened to newsmen a 5½-million-dollar plant that has been producing the fuel in small quantities about a month.

The initial production cost was $5,000 a pound, the company said. When the new plant is in production, in about 20 months, the cost will be $4 a pound.

BORAX BASIS

The basis of the new fuel is borax, a common crystalline substance used as a cleaner. The finished product is a clear, rather oily liquid.

Brig. Gen. Clyde H. Mitchell, deputy director of production, Air Materiel Command, said the fuel gives U. S. air power "amazing deterrent" to any potential aggressor.

ELIMINATION OF BASES

Among the practical economies the fuel could make possible, although none was specifically mentioned here, would be the elimination of overseas bases or refueling depots for intercontinental bombers.

Mitchell also said the fuel would have some "exceptional peacetime advantage within a decade." The principal one would be greater pay loads possible for commercial aircraft.

Hope Fades In Snarl on Disarming

West Splits Over Rigidity of Russia

By DREW MIDDLETON
(Copyright 1957 by The New York Times Co.)

LONDON, July 9—Prospects of agreement on a disarmament treaty between East and West receded rapidly today as the thornier aspects of the Soviet Union's position became known.

The principal, and perhaps the only, Russian objective in the current talks of the U.N. subcommittee on disarmament now appears to be the unconditional suspension of nuclear tests for a period of two or more years. Western powers will not accept suspension without provisions for a ban on the manufacture of fissionable materials for military use.

KICK IN TEETH?

The U.S. delegation refused to concede that Valerian Zorin's speech yesterday met the description of "a kick in the teeth" given it by one Allied diplomat. Other Western diplomats not so deeply involved in optimism have been more candid.

Jules Moch, head of the French delegation, told intimates he had never encountered Soviet position "so rigid" as that advanced by Zorin. Moch thought the Soviet position so intransigent that it would be a waste of time to seek possible loopholes in the Soviet delegate's speech.

This speech has occupied the U.S. delegation. It is comforted by the thought, perhaps illusory, that after weeks of patient discussion no position could be so immovable as the one Zorin presented to the subcommittee.

POSITIVE VIEW

The U.S. delegation consistently has tried to take a positive view of the progress of the negotiations. Consequently, it has been less shaken, publicly at least, by Zorin's speech than other delegations.

But a summary of the speech made available today showed the Russian position is even less promising than it appeared last night.

The Soviet statements, unless they are radically modified in the future, seemed to relegate the subcommittee meeting to a meaningless discussion. For instance, Zorin sharply attacked the U.S. search for a "clean" hydrogen bomb.

Research and experiment in this field, he claimed, are being employed to delay agreement on a suspension of tests and on a ban on the bomb's use, a use which would mean "mass destruction." Hydrogen weapons would kill people no matter how clean the bombs, Zorin asserted.

Western delegations had taken some consolation from the fact that during this session of the subcommittee the Soviet Union has not reiterated its attack on U.S. nuclear bases abroad. Zorin broke this pattern yesterday with the assertion that the Western proposals put forward last week mean that the United States would be permitted to retain these bases.

Clinton Contempt Trial Selects All-White Jury

KNOXVILLE, Tenn., July 9 (AP)—An all-white jury was completed today in U.S. District Court for the mass contempt trial of 16 defendants in the Clinton segregation case. Defense lawyers called it a "history-shaping" trial.

The 12 jurors, including two women, were seated with an unexpected late burst of speed after the 19-man battery of defense attorneys had wasted little time in dismissing four Negro candidates for the panel.

Four alternate jurors remain to be chosen before the federal government begins presenting its case tomorrow.

The 16 are charged with criminal contempt of court, on grounds they violated U.S. District Judge Robert L. Taylor's permanent injunction against interfering with court-ordered integration of white and Negro students at Clinton High School.

The trial is based on outbursts of violence in November and December which rocked the little town of Clinton, 20 miles northwest of here, after 12 Negroes were admitted along with about 800 white students in August.

The first touch of religious dispute was injected in the trial during the day when J. Benjamin Simmons, counsel for segregationist Frederick John Kasper, Washington, D.C., White Citizens Council leader, demanded to know whether the employer of one of the jury candidates was a Jew.

The incident arose when Will S. Temple of Knoxville identified the president of the nationwide Hertz Rent-a-Car System as Walter Jacobs of Chicago. Temple is a long-time employe in the Hertz system.

Closely questioning Temple about all his superiors, both locally and nationally, Simmons pounced on Temple's mention of the name "Jacobs."

"A JEW?"

"Is Walter Jacobs a Jew?" the defense lawyer asked.

Temple nodded in the affirmative. Simmons thereupon excused Temple from the jury with a peremptory challenge.

Earlier, one of the highlights of the two-day-old trial developed when a 70-year-old grandfather was seated as a juror—after commenting bitterly that the South had survived for 450 years, so he put it, without mixing whites and Negroes in its schools.

He did not explain how he arrived at the figure of 450 years, which would go back to 1507, some 15 years after Columbus discovered America and long before the first Negroes were brought to this country as slaves.

Herbert F. Hartman, of Knoxville, a stern-faced retired lumber dealer, made the remark after he had been accepted by U.S. Dist. Atty. John C. Crawford Jr. as a juror.

DEFENSE ASSENT

The defense quickly added its assent and Hartman took his seat in the jury box.

Hartman shook with emotion several times during his interrogation by hard-battling defense and prosecution lawyers. He said he believes the National Assn. for the Advancement of Colored People and "other agitators" are wrong," but he told the court:

"I still feel that Negroes and whites should have separate schools."

On trial are Kasper and 15 residents of the Clinton area where the violence erupted last fall.

Heaven Isn't For Sinful —Graham

NEW YORK, July 9 (AP)—Evangelist Billy Graham told 19,000 persons in Madison Square Garden tonight that "heaven would be hell on earth to some of you."

Sinners by their very nature, Graham said, "would feel out of place in heaven."

"No man," the evangelist said, "can come to the Savior until he admits he's a sinner." Everyone, he said, "has a disease the Bible calls sin."

Repentance of sin and a spiritual regeneration is the way to heaven, he stated. "You need to be born again," he said, adding:

"You can have a new life...from the moment when you let Christ in your life."

Tonight's attendance boosted the total for 53 Graham appearances here to 930,000 persons.

At Graham's call 568 persons made "decisions for Christ," bringing the overall total of such decisions to 29,329.

New-Garage Policy Here Is Softened

The Atlanta Traffic and Transportation Commission Tuesday ordered a revision of its policy statement on the construction of off-street parking garages in the core area to answer criticism leveled by downtown merchants.

The new policy statement is to be in line with the off-street parking program recommended by 13 civic groups in their Central Atlanta Plan issued last year.

The decision on the revision came after many business leaders appeared at Tuesday's public meeting called by the commission to test reaction to its new policy that calls for restriction of parking garages in the central business area to permit better movement of foot and transit traffic.

The businessmen were joined by garage operators in calling for establishment of new garages "when the over-all gain in accessibility outweighs the transit interruption, street overloading and pedestrian hazard.

The commission named Elfred S. Papy and a subcommittee to redraft the policy paragraph to meet the objections.

Among those appearing at the meeting were J. F. (Sy) Gordy, H. L. Ebersole, Peter Stelling, L. L. Austin, all of the Retail Merchants Assn.; Charles Regenstein of the Junior Chamber of Commerce; Alvin Ferst of the Atlanta Chamber of Commerce; Martin Peabody and Roy Livingston of the Auto Parking Improvement Assn., and Robert Sommerville, president of Atlanta Transit System.

Board Calls on School To Release Report Card Withheld for Discipline

Withholding students' report cards as a disciplinary measure came under fire of the State Board of Education Tuesday.

The board requested the Peach County Board of Education to release a report card to the son of Ralph Fuller of RFD, Fort Valley.

Fuller had written that the school had held up his son's card because the son was alleged to have owed $12.50 for breaking a mirror.

Board member William T. Bodenhamer of Ty Ty also requested that the board consider a declaration of policy on the matter at the August meeting. Indications are that the board would ban withholding grades.

Bills Ask Social Security for Police

Constitution Washington Bureau

WASHINGTON, July 9—Bills to bring Georgia policemen and firemen under coverage of the Social Security Act have now been introduced in both houses of Congress.

Sen. Talmadge today introduced such a bill in the Senate, with cosponsorship from Sen. Russell. A similar bill was introduced in the House a few days ago by Rep. Henderson Lanham.

Talmadge presented his bill at the request of the Peace Officers Association of Georgia, which adopted a resolution at its annual meeting in Savannah last October, requesting Social Security coverage.

"No public servants are called upon to make greater sacrifices for the public good than are our peace officers and firemen", Talmadge said.

Under-the-Stars Debut Is Just Plain Fancy

By PAUL JONES

An appealing musical story of the Amish people of Pennsylvania—"Plain and Fancy"—got the outdoor theater off to an auspicious start Tuesday night.

A record throng was on hand for the opening of the Municipal Theater Under-the-Stars' fifth annual season, which promises to be the biggest yet. The crowd relished every minute of the quaint, pleasant story that is highlighted by some pleasant music and nice stage decor.

REAL TREAT

This was a real treat for Atlanta theatergoers since this particular show had not been presented here before. The newness apparently has helped to develop special intrst in this opner and president Maurice B. Seltzer reported Tuesday night that sales for this show are the largest yet.

The production, under the supervision of Eric Mattson and under the musical direction of Sherman Frank, who has directed the theater for the past two years, was, for the most part, a fasts-paced show. The first portion of the opening act was somewhat clumsy. But activity quickened toward the middle of the opening stanza and by intermission time it was rolling at a brisk pace. The finale found everyone on their toes, doing a bang-up job with the novel play.

The cast is excellent We are happy to report that at least two of the principals in this show will be featured again in "Carousel" next week. Shirl Conway, in the comedy lead, went over in a big way with the first night audience. She proved one laugh after another with her perfectly timed punch lines.

PROFESSIONAL MANNER

Grant Sullivan in the romantic lead acquitted himself in a professional manner. But Dran Seitz in the ingenue role provided the show-stopping performance with her appealing songs and dances. She will be featured in "Carousel" along with Michael Kermoyan, who excelled as the Amish father, Papa Yoder.

Virginia Rich and Robert Barnett excelled as the stars of the dancing ensemble. Their work in both the first act ballet and the second act Carnival Ballet gave the show a refreshing change of pace.

The work of the chorus and dancing ensemble was, likewise, top notch.

The show will be presented again each night through Sunday at 8:30 p.m.

Panel Pushes Guard Rails For Freeway

The Atlanta Traffic and Transportation Commission will ask the city to speed up replacement of the wire fences separating Expressway lanes with concrete and steel guard rails.

Commission member Jack Crowder said that during the past 18 months four persons were killed and 22 injured in 90 accidents that involved automobiles going through the wire fences on the Expressway center dividers.

"They are like tissue paper," commented Ald. Jesse Draper, "and we're replacing them as fast as we can with double guard rails like those on highway curves."

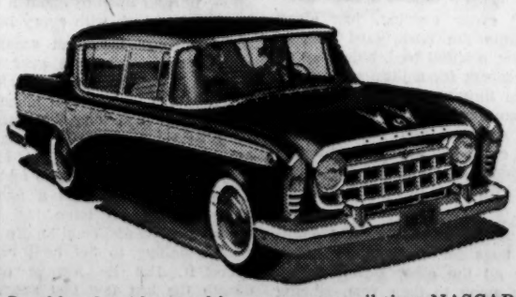

In other business, the commission approved a 70-space parking lot at 451 Peachtree St., NE; a 50-space lot at 277 Spring St., NW, and a parking lot at 1330 West Peachtree St. They also authorized transfer of lot ownerships at 918 Peachtree St. and at 257 Whitehall St., SW.

What makes a bank grow?

The Citizens & Southern system of banks has grown to become Georgia's largest with 26 offices serving 14 Georgia cities. C&S has the wonderful advantage of doing business in a great and expanding state. Here are some of the other factors C&S believes have contributed to the bank's growth.

Good Customers—No business, especially a bank, can prosper without the confidence and support of its customers. Over 300,000 Georgians now use C&S banking services.

Versatile Directors—The 240 C&S Directors and advisory board members provide C&S with management experience in a wide range of business activities.

Capable Personnel—Among the 1600 folks who staff C&S Banks are experienced specialists skilled in every phase of banking. Solving tough financial problems is C&S' business.

Adequate Capital—The C&S National Bank with 4,100 stockholders and capital funds of over $33,000,000 is well equipped to help meet the credit needs of expanding S.E. business.

Creative Banking—C&S in its efforts to become increasingly useful has added 30 new services in the last five years.

The Long View—C&S believes that one of its main reasons for being in business is to help propel the growth of C&S customers and of Georgia. Such C&S programs as that to rebuild the state's sheep industry and another to attract new industry exemplify this policy in action.

The "Yes" Attitude—"Banking the customer's way" is more than a slogan at C&S. It is the bank's active working policy towards individual and business customers.

Here at midyear 1957 is the measurement of C&S growth as shown in the bank's statement of condition.

Factional Squabbles Will Harm Schools

The critical tone of Pete Latimer's remarks Monday to the Atlanta Rotary Club about City School Superintendent Ira Jarrell and the outgoing board of education will do nothing to "restore public confidence" in the board, which he says is desirable and which he says now is lacking.

If it signals the beginning of a running feud between the new board and the school administration, education faces a rough future here for the next three years.

Mr. Latimer, recently re-elected to the board, is almost certain to become its chairman next year.

While this newspaper has the highest regard for Mr. Latimer's ability and integrity, it did not support him in the recent campaign because it feared his election would result in a situation which would not be healthy for the schools. The speech Monday shows the reason for that fear.

Certainly if the board and the superintendent are to be constantly at odds, the school program will suffer.

Miss Jarrell, whose contract expires in three years and who in the meantime will reach retirement age, has made a major contribution to Atlanta's education system. Through the years she is bound to have displeased some people. But her valuable service has been and is recognized and appreciated by the community and the school people as well. The new board and Mr. Latimer should not lose sight of that fact.

Mr. Latimer said also that the new board should begin immediately to look for a successor to Miss Jarrell. What is wrong with Dr. Kenneth Williams, whom the board of which Mr. Latimer is a member brought to Atlanta for the specific purpose of grooming for the job? Are his qualifications less now than they were then? If so, why?

If intense factionalism and constant squabbles are to be aired in public for the next three years, the Atlanta school system will pay the consequences. We cannot believe that the people of this community want that to happen.

We hope it does not and that Mr. Latimer's efforts will be directed toward keeping it from happening and also to carrying out the constructive parts of the program he outlined Monday. Carping and criticizing in public are negative approaches.

By the same token, Miss Jarrell must accommodate herself to the wishes of the new board, elected by the people, and adjust her administration of school affairs as harmoniously as possible. Both she and the board have an equal responsibility to the children of this community. Both can be independent and still work together.

Rights Bill Is Wedge To Dissect Democrats

Unless a compromise is reached, the fight on the civil rights bill in the Senate is slated to be one of the bitterest in history. So bitter, in fact, that it will leave scars on this country which will be long in the healing.

Sen. Russell's desperate determination is not play-acting nor is it insincere. One of Congress' most valuable men, the Georgian is staking his national stature and reputation in a fight which he believes is aimed to force acceptance—at the point of the bayonet, if necessary—of measures his native region has no intention of accepting.

From a purely political standpoint, the bill is aimed at dissecting the Democratic Party and weaning away the minority vote which is decisive in some states and many cities. Usually conservative Republicans are using it for that purpose.

If the battle finally flames into the full-scale filibuster which is threatened, little else will be accomplished at this session of Congress.

It is regrettable that the country should be torn asunder by a bill which smacks so heavily of politics. Its constructive features are outweighed so greatly by its destructive potential that it can be of no real value to the nation.

Ruling on FBI Files Badly Needs Clarifying

Another defendant accused of being a top lottery racket operator has been freed in federal court here when the government refused to surrender its investigative files to the defense for inspection.

This sort of thing has been going on all over the country since the Supreme Court ruling was made on FBI files in criminal cases.

Files in past years were amassed on the assumption that information, including the names of informers in investigations, would be kept secret. Such information, of course, had to be proved in court.

The court ruling now makes it necessary for federal investigators to violate confidences or else to refuse to open case files. Surely the intent of the court was not to turn criminals loose and to weaken investigative machinery.

Congress now is considering legislation which might clarify the situation. Admitting that investigative procedures may have been abused in the past, that is no excuse to destroy them altogether.

Lawson Should Reject Official Highway Role

Roger Lawson, who recently resigned as chairman of the State Highway Board as required by law, in order to run for governor in 1958, has been appointed to a new highway "advisory" job.

The question which immediately will enter the mind of skeptical citizens is whether the resignation was a mere gesture to comply with the law. Will Mr. Lawson, in other words, continue to run the board and the highway department, even if without salary, for his own political advantage during the next 18 months?

During the coming fiscal year, Georgia will spend and commit more money—state and federal—on its roads than in any other year in history. Will this be used as in the past in attempts to buy whole blocks of counties?

Brazen use of taxpayers' funds to buy elections through road contracts is an old story in Georgia. It has cost the state literally millions of dollars and has resulted in inferior roads.

Granting Mr. Lawson's value to the road program in the past, his new appointment gives rise to many questions and suspicions. It inevitably places the highway department in the middle of a primary election which is more than a year away.

It makes the governor's edict against "politicking" by state employes and his dismissal yesterday of Adj. Gen. George Hearn, presumably for backing the candidacy of Lt. Gov. Ernest Vandiver, seem to be a cynical bit of business indeed.

An unofficial temporary liaison in order to take advantage of Mr. Lawson's working knowledge and experience would be acceptable—perhaps advantageous. But to continue his association with the department in an official capacity is a bad

The appointment under the circumstances will benefit neither Mr. Lawson nor the highway department. If he is wise, he will reject it.

Vice Squad Must Have Sustained Cooperation

The newly formed metropolitan vice squad, established at a meeting marked with harmony and other surprises, can be a giant step toward crushing the lottery racket and other evils in the Atlanta area.

Its degree of success will depend largely upon the ability of the participating agencies to continue the spirit of cooperation voiced at the organizational conference. Jurisdictional jealousies between city and county agencies have been a deterrent to getting the job done in the past.

If Alderman Ed Gilliam's idea to form the vice squad has erased such differences, the new arm of law enforcement already is beginning to serve a useful purpose. In the long run results will be the criteria. The public certainly has the right to hope the principle of working together was not merely receiving lip service.

Morale of the Atlanta Police Dept., reported at a low ebb since the launching of the lottery investigation and its implications, should have received a boost as a result of the vote of confidence it received on a motion made by Sol. Gen. Paul Webb and seconded by Criminal Court Sol. John I. Kelley. Nevertheless, it is not a wand that can evaporate the criticisms of two grand juries nor lessen the importance of the aldermanic probe into the police department following the grand jury presentments. The aldermanic committee is off to a good start with the appointment of Hugh Dorsey Jr., who is highly competent and respected, as attorney for the investigation.

The vice squad itself can become a powerful instrument to convince the people that all is well with law enforcement in the metropolitan area. It can accomplish that by compiling a solid record of achievement against lottery, bootlegging and any other vices that might exist. It cannot obtain such a goal without a sincere desire, backed by action, of the participating agencies for it to do so.

St. Louis Post-Dispatch

The powers that be in the National Archives have set out to eliminate cliches from government letters, to make them models of shortness, simplicity, strength and sincerity. A prodigious job! It could mean the eclipsing of such worthies as Sidney Smith, Sir Henry Wotton and the Earl of Chesterfield. Secretary-stenographers might bloom as Madame de Sevignes, and culture might bust out all over—like the Japanese cherry trees in spring. . . .

Columbus Citizen Asks Georgians To Elect Governor Who Is Peacemaker, Not Agitator

Columbus—I agree with your editorial printed July 3, 1957. We need a man in the governor's chair who can get along with all of the people in the state. One who can get along with the federal government at Washington, D.C., and who would be respected outside the state.

Surely Georgia can produce a governor who can lead the state in peace and good will toward all our people.

We need a peacemaker as governor instead of a peace breaker.

Atlantan Believes Day Of Decision Is Here

Atlanta—It is the day of decision.

A prominent man in Congress has just said that if the civil rights bill becomes law, bayonets will clash in the South. Possibly he is right, but I do not think so. I believe that the majority of the South has more wisdom than to make such a thing necessary.

As Billy Graham says, "This is the day of decision." One cannot forever stay on the fence. He must either go on the right with the sheep or on the left with the goats. He must decide for justice or injustice, which means integration to a small extent or disintegration to a large extent.

'Whole Story' Wanted On Sale of Liquor

Baconton—I noted with extreme disfavor the editorial in The Constitution June 24 in which you talk about facing facts and realism.

If those are the things you would deal with, why does the editorial so scrupulously avoid them?

The first fact avoided is the fact that prohibition prohibited. There are plenty of reliable figures available to you that reveal this is true, even on a per capita basis. You don't want to face this fact. Is it because the advertising of the distilleries and breweries has a strong appeal to you?

Another fact that you avoid, or at least avoid giving to your readers, is that consumption of alcoholic beverages is responsible for many of the wrecks that occur on our highways. However, your editorials harp on speed and unsafe roads and often ignore entirely the major factor of the drinking driver.

The guilty and the innocent alike die or are maimed and you and our governor place the blame on speed and bad highways. Please give us the whole truth as nearly as you have it.

This would include something about how far short the revenue from alcoholic beverage falls of meeting the expenses they cause.

JULIAN W. COLLINS,
Temperance Chairman,
Tucker Baptist Assn.

Editor's Note: Prohibition also was responsible for the era of the mobsters, speakeasies and Al Capone, who could and did challenge the authority of the federal government itself. It corrupted city and state governments and led to wholesale disrespect of law and order.

Faith of Islam Called Menace to Christianity

Decatur—The picture of President and Mrs. Eisenhower in The Constitution recently, which showed them taking part in the dedication of an Islam Mosque in Washington, D.C., may not leave a favorable impression on the Christian world in general, or on the minorities of the Near East in particular, who suffered so much at the hands of Islam Turks for their Christian faith.

I know we are doing what we can to make all Islamic countries our friends in this changing age. At the same time we know that the religion of Islam is a deadly menace to the Christian faith and to the Christian church.

Christian America is sending hundreds of her able and devout young men as Christian missionaries to the corners of the world to bring the natives and their religions to the foot of the Cross.

States Have Yet To Learn Lesson of Responsibility

Twenty years ago this newspaper warned that much of the pressure building up behind New Deal proposals arose from the failure of states to meet the demands of their people for action. President Eisenhower in his speech to the Governors' Conference pointed out that the same cause lies behind the continuing trend toward centralized government.

Tactfully he reminded the governors that states' responsibilities must go along with states' rights. This fact can hardly be underscored too often.

And the President speaks with both knowledge and feeling. One of the deepest convictions he carried into the White House was a basic belief that government should be kept close to the people. But he has run hard up against situations in which federal action was demanded because the states were either unwilling or unable to answer a need felt by the people.

Four years ago Congress provided for a thoroughgoing study of the relations of the national and state governments. A distinguished commission headed by Meyer Kestnbaum dug into the problem. Two years ago it made a fine report, with recommendations for action.

Eisenhower apparently feels that the time is now riper for enlisting popular support. Three of the fields dealt with in the Kestnbaum report he picked out for specific mention to the governors.

Schools are traditionally and especially a matter for local action. States license and tax both motor vehicles and their drivers, but have not adequately cooperated to establish uniform standards and safety regulations. Natural disasters sometimes spread beyond state borders or are more equably met on a wider basis, but too often the first thought is to run to Washington for help.

This applies also to problems of slum clearance and urban renewal. Here an extra factor enters. State legislatures are often apportioned in a way to give inadequate representation to the cities; but nationally the big cities are very important, so they find sympathetic ears in Washington. This is only one of several weaknesses in state government which foster centralized federal power.

If states handled more of the public's demands for services—such as schools and roads—burdens on federal taxes could be lightened. Likewise what Eisenhower called the "freight charges" on money sent to Washington, only to be brought back for distribution in the states, could be saved.

We trust the states will respond to the President's proposal for a task force—a joint committee to get action. For the danger Eisenhower spoke of—that the states will become "powerless satellites"—demands earnest and urgent attention.

How Long Is A String Bean?

So they call him "String Bean." How long is a string bean anyhow? Well, the longest in a bean corsage Mrs. Steve Thompson brought in Monday morning is 19 inches, from stem to stern. Steve, who runs a tonsorial parlor on Forsyth street in the heart of the heart of Atlanta, learned gardening on a farm in Dodge County. He practices on a plot at 1418 Benteen Ave.

Now I would not detract a bean from the long, thin specimen Steve sent me, but I'm asking him to put the strings back on the vine. Someone downstate—I can't find the clipping—has carried to the editor in his town a string bean which measures 23 inches.

The field is open. Please see that all entries are fully edible.

Steve and I still claim a 19-inch bean is mighty good for having been brought up strictly urban.

Seek Help To Lift Clouds of Troubles

Worry is a crippling disease. It undermines resolution. It retards progress. It hampers personal development. Often it destroys our healthy and normal self-confidence. Of course, we should not worry, but all of us do and I presume a certain amount of concern can do some good. Perhaps it makes us more thoughtful.

But too much worry, too much preoccupation with ourselves and the varied elements which make up the fabric of our lives will, sooner or later, destroy us, cause mental and nervous breakdowns, make us unfit to live with. I'm not offering any easy antidote for the elimination of all worry but I would like to suggest that most of us worry too much and it is not necessary.

Someone has said, "Taking things philosophically is easy if they don't concern us." But many things do concern us, sometimes vitally, and of course we become anxious and apprehensive. None of us can avoid trouble forever. In the kind of world we live in, trouble is just bound to come. Life is unpredictable and people are more so. We cannot control the circumstances of our lives, nor can we control the people whose lives are interlocked with ours. And we can't always depend on ourselves. So the unexpected happens and that for which we are unprepared occurs. What shall we do about these untoward developments? Shall we resign ourselves to the role of a worrier?

The first deliberate step we can take is to examine carefully and honestly the thing that is worrying us. Bring it out into the open. Analyze it. Talk it over candidly with a friend or counsellor.

To focus attention on the thing that bothers us will make it possible for us to be objective in our thought.

I talk with many worried persons. Always I want them to define as precisely as possible the area of their concern. I want them to establish boundary lines around the trouble.

Always I tell worried persons of two great sources of help which are available to them. First, there are the human agencies. Is your trouble financial? Why not seek the advice of the experienced counsellor at the bank? Is your trouble physical? Your doctor will patiently and constructively guide your thinking. Is your trouble spiritual? Your pastor is a chosen vessel to guide and lead your mind.

I've always found that people want to help people. We respond instinctively when a plea for help is heard. Why not tap this great reservoir of compassion and experience? Then, secondly, God will help you. Tomorrow I'll suggest how He can help you when your life is clouded by worry.

'Clean' Bombs, Too, Incinerate Innocent

WASHINGTON—The time has about come to relegate the "clean" bomb to the status of a side issue—which it is—and let the scientists work at it. It should not be allowed to confuse us or divert us from the overwhelming issue of this time. That is to get on with disarmament, including the bomb—clean or dirty. It seems appropriate to recall Gertrude Stein's line, "A rose is a rose is a rose is a rose," and to say, "The bomb is a bomb is a bomb is a bomb." Clean or dirty.

While the "clean" bomb may not maim as many persons in a radius of several miles from its point of destruction because of the lack of radioactive fallout, it still is a bomb. It still is a weapon and it still can wipe out many thousands of human beings at a concentrated target.

We should remember that cities, including men, women and children, were targets in World War II. The wreckage of cities and towns, their gaunt skeletons of buildings with ghastly, gaping wounds, the rubble of steel and brick piled up two and three stories high, the awful silence of ruin and emptiness—anybody who saw that can never forget.

Men in top places of power today are no different from the men in power in World War II who decreed all that. Now, a decade later, it is hard for us to bring back our emotions keyed to a war of survival and to recall how all of us, including our leaders, were swept into rationalization of anything necessary to win.

We only have to look back at where it carried us here in the United States in our effort to end the war with Japan quickly and thus save the lives of American soldiers which would have been lost in an invasion of Japan.

To do that we dropped the atom bombs that wiped out Hiroshima and Nagasaki and opened the new era of atomic terror by air. Many thousands were maimed by the "fallout," which it is the intention of the "clean" bomb to avoid. But many, many more thousands were killed outright. The two bombs used then were like peas alongside of watermelons compared to the bombs of today and their destructive force.

All the fears generated by Hiroshima and Nagasaki, by the bigger and bigger bombs developed since, by the proved injurious effect of radioactive "fallout" slowly pushed the great powers to the table about which they sit today in London.

The situation has become more propitious now by the clearly changed attitude of Soviet Russia. Their leaders, like ours, recognize that a continued arms race can only lead to war. The arms race not only is becoming too heavy a burden upon the Russian people, but her leaders know, as do ours, that nobody could win an atomic war—if anybody can win any war any longer—and that such a war would, instead, end civilization.

What our representatives in London, directed ably by Harold Stassen, are trying to do deserves and needs our support. Finally the world seems on its way to an answer to the terrible dilemma of our times.

Inch-Worm Wanly Works Way Upward

Looks as if I'm going to run out of lightning bugs. Last week you could walk out in the back yard just as dusk was beginning to fall and there would be a million of them, winking their little flashlights all over the place. Or a half million. It's pretty hard to count lightning bugs. You can't see them except when they flash and if you don't watch out you'll find yourself counting the same bug twice.

Anyway, there are not as many as there used to be and I have just figured out why. Out in the middle of the yard there is an iron hammock frame, where people swing a hammock sometimes in the middle of the day to take a sun bath.

And every evening, just about the time the back yard falls in shadow, a small bird, blue-gray all over except for a little gray patch on his throat, comes and sits on the hammock frame. And as evening darkens and the lightning bugs come out he darts through the gloom on fluttering wings and plucks them out of the air and eats them.

He stays there, catching lightning bugs for an hour or more, while all the other birds are already going to their rest, singing their sleepy songs down in the woods. Then finally, when it is deep dark and the stars are beginning to come out, he disappears. And I wish some of my bird-watching friends would tell me what he is, for he is not a daytime bird, nor a night flyer, but a stranger, a bird of the dusk and the twilight.

I am also a little puzzled by the strange antics of my old friend the inch-worm, who lives on an oak leaf in the tree above my head. Every afternoon, at 14 minutes past 6, he falls out of the oak tree. He must unreel some invisible gossamer filament as he falls, for he always halts his descent about two feet off the ground. Then he hangs there, resting, for about a minute and then begins the slow climb up again, bending his body in the form of a question mark, first to the left, then to the right, lifting himself upward about a sixteenth of an inch with every bend.

It is one of the most amazing athletic feats you have ever witnessed. He falls about 20 feet, which is 240 inches, and since he is about an inch long that means he must lift himself 240 times his own height—the equivalent of a six-foot man climbing 1,440 feet up a cord no bigger than a fishing line. Guests who have not witnessed this phenomenon before are always willing to bet he'll never make it. But he always does, though the last few feet seem to take a lot out of him.

The thing I can't understand is this: Why does this worm fall out of the tree at exactly the same moment every afternoon? And what does he do with the filament he spins out as he falls? After he climbs back up, people go over and grope about in the air, trying to find the gossamer thread that leads him back to his leaf, and there's nothing there. Does he swallow it as he climbs? Or coil it up as he goes like a cowboy coiling his lariat?

If any of my worm-watching friends know the answer, I would like to hear from them.

Ingram, 28 Others Plead Innocent of Conspiracy

Lottery Kingpin, 7 Ex-Policemen Will Be Tried by U.S. Sept. 9

Lottery chieftain Horace Ingram, seven ex-policemen and 21 other persons gave notice Tuesday that the government will have to wage a court battle to prove its conspiracy charges against them.

Twenty-nine of the 31 persons named in a federal lottery conspiracy indictment entered pleas of innocent before U.S. District Judge Boyd Sloan.

Two of accused conspirators—Charles Gresham Dickey and Senchez McDowell—did not show up for the arraignment. They are still being sought by the U.S. Marshal's office.

If any of the defendants had pleaded guilty, they would have been sentenced immediately and would not have been brought to trial, government attorneys pointed out.

Since all 29 elected to fight it out in federal court, they will be put on the trial docket for Sept. 9.

Assistant District Attorney E. Ralph Ivey, who will prosecute the case, said he expects to try all 31 persons named by the grand jury at one time.

One of the 31 defendants, Mrs. Ruby Ingram, has asked to be tried separately. Her attorney, Wesley R. Asinof, made an oral motion for severance Tuesday morning.

Asinof, also representing former city policeman Roy H. Flemming, made a written request for the court to direct the district attorney to provide him with a bill of particulars as to Flemming's role in the conspiracy.

The attorney said the indictment is "too vague and indefinite" in parts.

Meanwhile, Fulton Superior Court Judge Verlyn B. Moore denied a second attempt by Horace Ingram to be allowed to go free on bond while his motion for a new trial on bribery charges is pending.

Attorneys for Ingram sought to have Judge Moore overrule Judge Luther Alverson's refusal last month to grant Ingram bond on grounds that the trial judge had disqualified himself by prematurely expressing approval of the jury's conviction of Ingram.

Judge Moore answered, however, that he had "no authority to say whether Judge Alverson was right or wrong in denying bail." He said each judge has to try his own cases and that if one judge overruled the other, it would result in "confusion."

Ingram contended in his petition for bail that his family is in bad financial straits as a result of his being held without bond since June 14 when he was sentenced to 10 to 26 years in prison on four counts of bribery.

FHA Fraud Case Dropped as U.S. Refuses Files

The U.S. District Attorney's office Tuesday was forced to drop another case and was threatened with the loss of still another because it would not give ground on demands that it open its confidential files.

Judge Frank A. Hooper dismissed the government's case against the Piedmont Engineering and Construction Co. of Atlanta when District Attorney James W. Dorsey told the court he could not surrender investigative reports demanded by defense counsel.

The company was charged with an FHA fraud.

The Supreme Court in its Jenck's case ruling required federal prosecutors to open their files to defense attorneys in criminal cases or have the cases thrown out of court.

Dorsey has until 9:30 Wednesday morning to decide whether to open his files or have charges dismissed against Ida and Barnie Finestone, an Atlanta couple charged with income tax evasion.

Ruling on Medlock Shop Center Put Off

Decision on the controversial Medlock Road and North Decatur shopping center proposal was put off Tuesday by the DeKalb County Commission.

The proposal, which calls for rezoning the intersection of the two roads to allow a $150,000 shopping center to be built, had previously been approved by the DeKalb Planning Commission in a recommendation to the Commission. Two weeks ago the Commission voted to defer action on the subject pending further investigation.

Tuesday, citizens supporting both sides of the zoning application appeared before the Commission, backed up by lawyers to support their case. When the discussion subsided the Commission voted to hold a special meeting Friday at 2 p.m. in the DeKalb Building to decide the matter.

Arguments advanced Tuesday by attorney James A. Mackay, representing a citizen who opposed the shopping center being built near her property included reminders that both the county's Comprehensive Plan and its Economic Survey had recommended against a center at the location. "There isn't a whole lot of point in having a Comprehensive Plan or Economic Survey without giving it considerable weight," Mackay declared.

He said the shopping center would be a traffic hazard, and rezoning the area to allow it would amount to spot zoning.

Attorney M. M. Armistead, representing the McIntyre Realty Co., which seeks the zoning change, declared the firm had made its own economic survey and found the center to be financially feasible. He said the county cannot let resident objections stand in the way of progress.

"If we don't want that kind of business and that kind of progress in this county," he said, "we don't want anything."

In another zoning matter the Commission rezoned a small, 150-foot frontage, area of a large tract formed by the intersection of Memorial Drive and the Old Public Works Camp road.

Many Strange Things Asleep in the Deep

INDIANAPOLIS, July 9 (AP)—Park officials, who are accustomed to finding almost anything in swimming pools during their daily inspections, were surprised today when they found a small car in the deep end of the Ellenberger Park pool. There was no license plate and no owner's certificate.

CONSTIPATED?
New laxative discovery un-locks bowel blocks without gag, bloat or gripe

Constipation is caused by what doctors call a "thrifty" colon that, instead of retaining moisture as it should, does the opposite: robs the colon of so much moisture that its contents become dehydrated, so dry that they block the bowel; so shrunken that they fail to excite or stimulate the urge to purge that propels and expels waste from your body.

To regain normal regularity, the dry, shrunken, constipating contents of your colon which now block your bowel must be remoistened. Second, bulk must be brought to your colon to S-T-R-E-T-C-H STIMULATE it to action; to a normal urge to purge.

And, of all laxatives, only COLONAID, the amazing new laxative discovery possesses COLONAID's great moisturizing capacity, plus COLONAID's stretch-stimulating bulk. So effective it relieves even chronic constipation overnight, COLONAID is yet so smooth, so gentle it has proved safe even for women in critical stages of pregnancy.

Superior to old style bulk, salt or drug laxatives, COLONAID neither gags, bloats nor gripes; won't interfere with absorption of vitamins and other valuable food nutrients; in clinical tests, did not cause rash or other reactions.

It's a physiological fact: Exercise tones your body! And COLONAID exercises your colon to tone it against constipation, overnight! Get COLONAID, in easy-to-take tablet form at any drug counter, today! Only 98c for the 60 tablet package, brings positive relief at less than 2c per tablet.

Nuclear Mock Bombing Planned for Friday Here

Details of a simulated nuclear weapon attack on Atlanta will be outlined at 11 a.m. Friday by Elliott R. Jackson, director of Civil Defense for the Atlanta metropolitan area.

Jackson said Monday he will open a letter at that time in the CD headquarters at the Municipal Auditorium giving the location of the "bomb" burst, size of the bomb, and whether it would be a ground or an air burst.

He added there would be at least two hours' "grace" before simulated bombing of the Atlanta area would begin Friday.

Friday's exercise will not involve a mass evacuation of population, Jackson told a meeting of radio, television and newspaper representatives who assembled to discuss ways and means of letting the public know of the exercises.

Certain federal agencies, Jackson said, will practice a relocation plan involving the moving of key personnel to safer quarters in the surrounding country.

The public was asked to participate voluntarily by studying routes to survival points and selecting the safest shelter in homes and stocking them with reserve food and essential items.

Sirens will sound a five-minute blast indicating an alert, as well as a quavering take-cover blast of three minutes.

Movie Dispute Near Solution In Decatur

The Decatur movie dispute is nearing its end, city manager John D. Powell said Tuesday.

Interviewed after a closed meeting, Powell said the Decatur Better Films Committee and the city's movie house had reached "complete accord." He said he is working on a document which will reduce both sides' arguments to writing, after which a final agreement will be reached.

The list should be finished by Monday, he said. But he expressed doubt that the issue will come before the City Commission at its meeting that day.

The movie dispute has been smouldering since June when the film committee charged theater manager Fred G. Storey with hampering its work by not allowing members to attend the movie.

Demand for Dentists in South Expected To Outstrip Supply

Demand for dentists in the South will outstrip available supply in the next 10 to 20 years unless dental education facilities expand considerably, a group of southern dentists and educators concluded in Atlanta Tuesday.

This was announced by the Commission on Dental Education in the South after considering two days the preliminary report of a Southwide study of dental needs.

Said Commission Chairman Dr. Russell S. Poor, provost, University of Florida health center:

"Even at this stage of the study, it is obvious the size and number of dental schools in many areas of the South will have to be expanded during the coming years."

Increasing population and greater income throughout the region will cause the higher demand for dentists, he said.

The Southwide study of dental needs is being conducted by the staff of the Southern Regional Education Board and the Dental Education Division of the U.S. Public Health Service. The American Dental Assn. is cooperating in the study. The Kellogg Foundation has promised $10,000 to the project.

The commission will present findings and recommendations to representatives of state dental societies at a later date. A final report on the study will be issued in September.

Peggy Won't Allow Mom To Outdo Her

By MARJORY RUTHERFORD

"HORSEPOWER was much safer," muses Snapshots, "when only horses had it."

PEGGY GRANT, 18, of Ellenwood, just won't let Mom get ahead of her.

Mom is Mrs. Robert Grant, who recently graduated from the Grady Memorial Hospital School of Practical Nursing and now is on Grady's staff.

Peggy is a junior in Grady's professional nursing school. (Another daughter, Sylvia, 22, has just graduated from the Georgia Baptist School of Nursing. Peggy was a student at Georgia Baptist but transferred to Grady's professional school "to keep an eye on Mom—and get some pointers from her now and then.")

Peggy's on-the-job student training and her mother's duties occasionally allow them to snatch a few moments together in those busy hospital corridors. Photographer Bob Dendy made this shot of the practical nurse and the registered nurse-to-be inspecting patients' charts.

ANSWERS to A. O. Brewton's last question came from far and near. Agnes C. Quade sent a postcard from Arlington, Va., to report correctly that "QUEUE" is the five-letter word pronounced like its first letter and that a three-letter word which has its pronunciation changed when its first letter is capitalized is "JOB."

First Atlantan to give that answer was J. F. Harrison. Mrs. M. E. Brogdon of Buford suggested an alternate three-letter word for the second part of the question—"ILL" and "I'LL." Atlanta Accent appreciates Mrs. Brogdon's postscript: "Thank you for this fun!"

The first mail also brought correct answers from Vernon Wright, 1144 Hairston Rd., Stone Mountain, and Anne Hayes of Madras in Coweta County.

Record Set Here in War On Cancer

The American Cancer Society's Education Fund Crusade has collected a record $231,000 in Fulton County, surpassing its quota by $11,000.

Henry Maddox, Fulton County drive chairman, said Tuesday contributions are expected to continue being made until the end of the fiscal year on Aug. 31.

12,000 VISIT HOMES

Maddox said about 12,000 Fultonians visited homes in their neighborhoods to describe ways of guarding against cancer and of recognizing symptoms of the dread disease.

These volunteers also accepted donations to help finance the American Cancer Society's programs of research, education and service to patients, Maddox said. More than $68,000 was contributed during a one-night, house-to-house campaign, he said.

LEADERS IN DRIVE

Mrs. Vise Miller served as chairman of the collection division of the crusade. She was assisted by four cochairmen: Mrs. James Parker, northern Atlanta and Fulton County; Mrs. W. D. Mabry, southeast; Mrs. Howard Schriner, southwest, and Mrs. Velma Hood, Tri-Cities.

John Grant III and Morris Abram served as cochairmen with Maddox. George Yundt headed the trades and industry division, C. H. Holman the suburban industries division, Hamond Smith the public employes' division, and James Thurmond the special gifts division.

Leg Bone Found in Savannah Grave Isn't Gwinnett's, Smithsonian Finds

SAVANNAH, July 9 (AP)—The Smithsonian Institute has declared "it is highly unlikely, if not fully impossible," that a damaged leg bone excavated last month in a Savannah cemetery is that of Button Gwinnett.

The report apparently killed hopes that the burial site of Gwinnett, one of three Georgia signers of the Declaration of Independence, had at last been discovered.

Marshall T. Newman, associate chief of the Smithsonian's Division of Physical Anthropology, examined the bone and concluded, "In all probability, the femur belonged to an adult woman rather than a man."

Paul Harkey, Oklahoma attorney, has been elected chairman of the Southern Regional Council on Mental Health Training and Research, it was announced Monday. The council was established in 1954 as part of the Southern Education Board's program.

Langdale or Suttles in Line To Head Georgia State

Choice 'Very Likely' Will Be Made At Regents' Meeting This Morning

Regents have narrowed the choice for president of Georgia State College of Business Administration to two University System faculty members, it was learned Tuesday.

Strongest indications pointed to the selection of Noah Langdale Jr., 37, assistant professor of social science at Valdosta State College. William M. Suttles, 40, dean of students at GSCBA, is also being considered.

One source said it was "very likely" that the regents would choose the new president at their July meeting Wednesday morning while another said selection may come later.

ONE INTERVIEW

The source further said that one of the two men would be interviewed formally by the regents before their business session opens.

The likelihood of Langdale's selection appeared to be strengthened by the fact that he left Valdosta for Atlanta Tuesday night.

Langdale is a graduate of the University of Alabama. He is Phi Beta Kappa and won three football letters.

The Valdostan holds a master's degree in business administration and a law degree from Harvard University. He served in the Navy during World War II.

Suttles has the backing of influential alumni for the post.

2 MASTER'S DEGREES

He came to the institution as a student in 1939 and graduated in 1942. He taught here for two years before entering the Navy in 1944. He holds two master's degrees from Emory University and is presently completing his doctorate at Auburn.

Suttles returned to the school in 1946, upon his discharge from the Navy.

In 1955 he was named chairman of the speech and drama department. He was named dean of students in the fall 1956, following the death of the late James C. Camp.

An ordained Baptist minister, he has rural churches at Luthersville and Haralson. He holds a three-year graduate professional degree from Yale Divinity School.

The presidency of the Atlanta school officially became open July 1, when the resignation of Dr. George M. Sparks become effective. J. D. Blair, registrar and acting administrative dean, is acting president.

Lt. Gen. Hickey Backs Verdict On Nickerson

Lt. Gen. Thomas F. Hickey, Third Army commander and reviewing authority in the general court-martial of Col. John C. Nickerson Jr., Tuesday approved the sentence of the court-martial and ordered it into execution.

Col. Nickerson had pleaded guilty to breaking security regulations at the Army's Redstone Arsenal near Huntsville, Ala. The court-martial sentenced him to suspension from rank for one year, to a fine of $100 per month for 15 months, and to a reprimand.

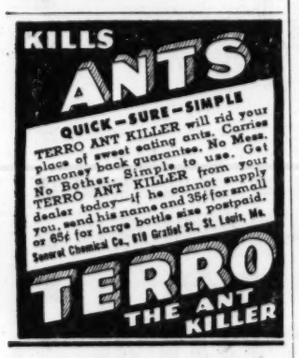

The results of the trial proceedings and the action of the reviewing authority, including the reprimand, administered by Gen. Hickey in accordance with the sentence, were promulgated Tuesday in general court-martial orders issued by Third Army headquarters.

The case again will be reviewed for legality in the office of the judge advocate general of the U.S. Army in Washington.

Gail Whips Up Cash For Hurricane Relief

When Gail Johnson, 11, of 3059 Beaver Rr., NE, DeKalb County, heard her mother reading an Atlanta Constitution article about the Louisiana hurricane tragedy, she quickly mobilized a relief force of her own.

With two girl friends, Kathy Otterbacher and Donna Marie Rose, she toured the Sagamore Hills community and with a candy box collected $18.10, mostly in pennies.

Gail's surprised mother Tuesday turned the collection over to the DeKalb Red Cross Chapter.

5 Are Killed on Highways of Georgia

Five persons were killed Tuesday in Georgia traffic, the State Patrol said. Two were pedestrians.

Mrs. Beuna Worthing Arlington, 73, of Matthews was killed when struck by a car two miles north of Wrens on U.S. Highway 221, troopers said. Witnesses were quoted as saying that Mrs. Arlington started across the highway from a parked car and walked into the path of a passing machine.

The second pedestrian was listed as Anthony Barnes Johnson, 4, of Rincon. Troopers said the child evidently fell under the rear wheels of an auto. The accident occurred two and a half miles south of Springfield on China road in Effingham County.

Glendolyn Crane, 14, of Rte. 1, Flowery Branch, was killed when an auto in which she was riding went out of control and overturned. Troopers said the crash occurred four miles south of Flowery Branch on Union road in Hall County.

Two-year-old Terry Lynn Conner of Jacksonville, Fla., was killed in an auto crash on U.S. Highway 182 a mile and a half west of Waycross. Troopers said the car went out of control and plunged from the road.

Robert Cofield, 49, of Rte. 2, Griffin, was killed when the car in which he was riding went out of control and overturned on U.S. Highway 82 a half-mile west of Acree. Two others were injured.

'Sinner' Sends $3,000 From Land of Goshen

WASHINGTON, July 9 (AP)—A clumsily-wrapped package sent this week to "Hon Mr. Humphrey, Secy. U. S. Treasery" contained $3,000 in well-worn currency, Treasury officials disclosed today.

The money was deposited in the government's "conscience fund" contributed by repentant cheaters. The package was postmarked "Goshen, Ind.," but the date was illegible and there was no return address.

2 Mothers Are Accused Here Of Teaching 2 Girls To Steal

Two mothers were ordered bound over to Fulton Criminal Court Tuesday on charges growing out of the arrest of their daughters at a downtown department store.

Juvenile Court Judge W. W. Woolfolk also ordered the two daughters, 14 and 16, to be held in detention until further disposition is made of the case. All the defendents are Negroes.

The two mothers, Carrie Partridge, 153 Vine St., NW, Apt. 1, and Ethel Jean Ballard, 155 Vine St., NW, Apt. 5, each was bound over on charges of contributing to the delinquency of a minor child and cheating and swindling. Bond was set at $1,000.

The charges grew out of the use by the daughters and one of the mothers of a department store charge-plate which belonged to someone else.

Testimony in court Tuesday indicated a Negro man found the charge-plate and gave it to one of the mothers. The Ballard woman drove the Partridge woman and the girls to town where they charged approximately $20 worth of clothes to the account of the charge-plate owner, testimony indicated.

Soviets Hint Kicking 3 From Party

Official Newspaper Cites Lenin Line

MOSCOW, July 9 (AP)—The Soviet government's official newspaper today cleared the way for the expulsion of V. M. Molotov, Georgi Malenkov and Lazar Kaganovich from the Communist party.

In a major editorial, the government newspaper Izvestia again invoked Lenin's 1921 injunction that in cases of violation of party discipline the Central Committee is empowered to use extreme measures, including expulsion.

Without party membership, a Soviet citizen cannot participate in any significant government or party activity. Expulsion amounts to political annihilation.

Molotov, Malenkov, and Kaganovich, have been ousted from the party's ruling Presidium by a unanimous vote of the Central Committee.

CREDO ON DISCIPLINE

The Central Committee's announcement July 3 referred to the 1921 Lenin credo on discipline. Today's underscoring left little doubt that the minimum fate facing the Stalinist triumvirate is expulsion from the party.

Whether the party leaders, headed by Nikita Khrushchev, will be satisfied with the political destruction of their opponents remains to be seen.

"The 10th party Congress in 1921 authorized the Central Committee, in cases of violation of discipline or revival of factionalism, to use all measures of party retribution up to and including expulsion from the party," Izvestia said.

"With members of the Central Committee this includes demotion to candidate members and, in extreme cases, to expulsion from the party.

"The party cannot tolerate those who do not carry out the will of the majority, who do not place the interest of the party above everything else, who try to bring dissension into its ranks and who plot against its unity."

HAVEN'T BEEN SEEN

Molotov, Malenkov and Kaganovich so far have been stripped of their high party and government posts but not dismissed from the ranks of the party itself. Malenkov succeeded Stalin as premier. Kaganovich has held top industrial expert assignments.

The three have not been seen publicly in Moscow this week. Moscow radio said last week they attended party meetings on Friday—two days after the action against them was announced.

The campaign of denunciation against the ousted Kremlin leaders expanded today as Premier Nikolai A. Bulganin and Khrushchev, victors in the upheaval, traveled leisurely through Czechoslovakia on a goodwill visit to Prague.

U.S.-British-Swedish Team Creates A New Element, Calls It Nobelium

By RICHARD J. H. JOHNSTON
(Copyright 1957 by The New York Times Co.)

LEMONT, Ill., July 9—The discovery of a tenth in the series of man-made elements was announced here today by the Argonne National Laboratory.

Designated as "Element 102," the discovery was made by an international group of scientists at the Nobel Institute for Physics, Stockholm, Sweden. The new substance has the proposed name of "Nobelium" in honor of the institute.

A team of United States, British and Swedish scientists achieved its discovery by bombarding curium, another synthetic element (96) with positively charged cosmic bullets called carbon ions, fired at almost the speed of light by the Institute's cyclotron.

Scientists have described the tenth of the discoveries since the advent of the atom bomb as essentially a "will-o-the-wisp" chemical which no one has yet seen or measured except with the most delicate of instruments.

It was pointed out here that the combined efforts of scientists from three nations marked the first time in which an international team pooled its knowledge and resources to effect such a discovery. Joined in the effort with the Argonne scientists were researchers from the British atomic energy establishment at Harwell, England, and the Nobel Institute staff.

Behind the accomplishment, it was explained, were more than two years of investigation and work, sparked by associates in the Argonne chemistry division, where Paul R. Fields is the group leader.

Fields, Arnold Friedman and their associates here were the first, it was said, to advance the theory that element 102 might result from the bombardment of the heaviest available element with the lightest particle needed to accomplish the transmutation of curium into a different substance.

Fields explained today the development of the discovery. He noted that no more than 30 or 40 atoms of the new element have been produced thus far. He said they possessed what is known to scientists as a half-life of approximately 10 to 20 minutes. The means that the element loses half of its energy in that period.

Fields went on to say that element 102, or "Nobelium," probably exists in natural form on some of the giant stars and that it is also probably created in some of the hydrogen bomb tests, although it has not been previously detected after such explosions.

He added that at this time the substance has no known practical value, but that it will undoubtedly serve as a valuable research tool in forwarding understanding of the matter and the forces which bind atoms together.

bank to finance underdeveloped areas and the modernization or conversion of backward industries to adapt them to the competition of the common market.

With the community would be "associated" the overseas territories of the member states. The most important are the African territories of France. Their markets and their sources of raw materials would gradually be opened to the six nations, which would share in financing public works in the territories. In this sense, the common market would be more than European, for it would eventually extend into Africa and the other overseas territories of France, Belgium and The Netherlands.

With the European Economic Community Britain might also be "associated" in a different manner. She herself has proposed such a link in the form of an industrial free trade zone (excluding agricultural products) that would embrace Britain and other European nations as well as the six-nation common market area but without merging with the common market.

ATOMIC COMMISSION

The second community, acting through a European atomic energy commission patterned on that of the United States, would pool the resources and unify the development of nuclear energy in the six member nations.

The common market treaty adopted something like the British imperial preference system in providing for a common European preferential tariff in favor of such tropical products of the French overseas territories as coffee, cocoa and bananas. It thus discriminated against British tropical colonies as well as against Brazil, for instance.

It was to maintain the preferences granted in her own market in favor not only of her colonies but of Australia, New Zealand and Canada, that Britain declined to include agricultural products in the proposed free trade zone.

So the next great debate, on almost a world-wide scale, seems likely to be between the impending new union of Western Europe and the older union of the British Commonwealth. The six-nation community will speak for Europe. Britain as its banker and principal market, will speak for the Commonwealth. If an understanding between the two could be reached, it might be a step toward greater economic unity of the western world.

Such is the desire of the six nations, although their leaders wanted to get ready for the showdown with Britain by first consummating their own economic unity through ratification of the two treaties, especially that for a common market.

For it was the progress toward the common market that led Britain to propose a free trade zone in order not to be frozen out of the European market.

The key to this strategic position of the six was France. She had appeared to turn her back on European union when her National Assembly refused the European Defense Community in 1954. If the fear of West German military power caused France to reject that community, the fear of West German economic power caused Frenchmen to hesitate about the economic community.

But the second fear was overcome. The vote today indicates that France is ready for a revolution in her policy, that she is prepared to abandon her traditional protectionism and her largely close and state-aided economy in favor of facing the competition of the world, even of her economically formidable neighbor, West Germany.

Goose Collision Puts a Hole in Airliner's Wing

HOUSTON, Tex., July 9 (AP)—A luxury airliner bound for New York apparently struck a wild goose at 2,000 feet today and had to return to the Houston airport.

Eastern Airlines officials said the 68 passengers aboard were never in danger even though the collision tore a hole about three feet long and about six inches wide in the aluminum edge of the right wing.

Maureen O'Hara Asks $1 Million Of Confidential

SANTA MONICA, Calif., July 9 (AP) — Actress Maureen O'Hara asked one million dollars damages today in a suit against Confidential magazine.

Her complaint filed in Superior Court said an article about her in the March 1957 issue libeled her. She said the article was false and impugned her character.

Miss O'Hara and pianist Liberace, who has sued Confidential for 25 million dollars, both appeared voluntarily before a Los Angeles County grand jury which indicted the magazine's publishers and others on charges of conspiracy to commit criminal libel.

Release Bid By Leopold Is Studied

SPRINGFIELD, Ill., July 9 (AP)—Nathan Leopold's plea for early release from an 85-year-prison sentence for the slaying of Bobby Franks was heard today by the Illinois Parole and Pardon Board, which took it under advisement.

Appearing in support of the request for executive clemency were several former classmates of the brilliant Univerity of Chicago student turned thrill slayer.

Meyer Levin of New York City, author of a novel based on the Leopold-Loeb case, told the board he has also written a magazine article urging that Leopold be freed. He said Leopold, who has come to be known as "a symbol of crime, can be a greater symbol of correction" if released.

COHORT KILLED IN PRISON

Leopold and fellow-student Richard Loeb, since killed in a prison brawl, were convicted in 1924 for the brutal slaying of the 14-year-old Franks child. This is Leopold's fourth bid for freedom since 1953.

Former Gov. Adlai Stevenson cut Leopold's 99-year sentence to 85 years following his participation in wartime malaria experiments. The prisoner's first parole plea in 1953 was denied, as were requests for rehearings in 1955 and last December.

At the clemency hearing Abel M. Brown of Chicago, a classmate, said both Leopold and Loeb have been thought of by the public as one individual.

"TOTALLY DIFFERENT"

"They were totally different," he said. "Loeb was the leader — crafty and smart. Leopold was a follower. Loeb induced Leopold to make the tragic mistake of his life."

A letter from Carl Sandburg, renowned poet, to Gov. William Stratton, was included in the hearing record. Sandburg said he would welcome Leopold as a neighbor because of the association that would be available "with a brilliant mind."

Elmer Gertz, a Chicago attorney said a former university classmate of the convict has offered him a job as head of a manufacturing firm's foreign department.

Tide, Tugs Fail To Free 700 in Liner

HAMILTON, Bermuda, July 9 (UP)—High tide, two tugs and a Coast Guard cutter failed today to get the British liner Reina del Pacifico off her perch on a coral reef.

Relatives' complaints likewise failed to get her 700 passengers ashore.

The ship's agent said sending a tender to take off the passengers would only add to confusion around the Reina, which jammed hard aground between two coral reefs in the channel leading out of Hamilton Harbor yesterday.

He said small boats bobbing around the stranded ship and tow lines stretching from the tugs Justice and Bermudian and the Coast Guard cutter Castlerock already made the scene look "like somebody's tangled knitting".

But the tow lines, the lifting power of a three and one-half foot high high tide and the full power of the Reina's four diesel engines helped not at all in a major effort to free her today.

Capt. E. C. Hicks imposed silence on passengers and crew, and an officer threatened to turn fire hoses on a small cabin cruiser that brought newsmen alongside.

Relatives here complained they could get no reply to cables to passengers aboard the ship.

The Reina's Liverpool owners chartered a four-engine Constellation airliner in London to fly 14 tons of salvage equipment, cables and pumps.

Ship's agents said there is no danger to those aboard the liner. The ship is jammed too tight on the reef to sink unless a heavy storm battered it to pieces.

Russell Rips At Ruling By Nixon

Fears Breakdown Of Senate Rules

form," and in "their intolerance of the traditional safeguards of our liberties," Fulbright declared, the procivil rights forces were demanding "a radical departure from established procedure."

Fulbright argued that the bill might involve the use of federal troops for its enforcement.

Sen. Javits (R-NY) contended that this was greatly overstating and oversimplifying the situation.

PRESIDENT'S POWER

He conceded that the President had power to use the armed forces to enforce the decrees of the courts but declared that this power already existed.

Sen. Ervin (D-NC) retorted that this was an example of the complexity of the measure.

What started the fight was a ruling by Nixon that the Senate, in considering a motion to take up a "star printed" or corrected version of the House-passed civil rights bill, had before it the true House version.

QUESTIONS PROCEDURE

A clerical error had been made in the House bill when it was sent over to the Senate and given two readings. On Monday the error was discovered and a corrected or "star printing" of the bill substituted for the original, erroneous copy.

Russell questioned this procedure Monday when the Senate began debating the Knowland motion to take up the bill.

Today, in order to clarify the question, Knowland asked Nixon to rule whether the Senate had before it the true House version.

The vice president ruled that it did, whereupon Russell sharply took issue with Nixon.

HADN'T BEEN READ

Raising a point of order, which he later withdrew, Russell insisted that the "star printed" bill has not been read to the Senate in compliance with rule 14.

The error that had been made in the version that came over from the House was not simply a typographical mistake, Russell argued, but actually inserted an amendment in the wrong section of the bill.

The mistake, Russell charged, actually changed the meaning of the bill.

But Nixon held that the corrected reprinting was merely a routine procedure that the Senate has followed for 30 years.

The Georgian rejected that contention and said the Senate, in its haste to get action on civil rights, actually was permitting a House enrolling clerk to decide what the Senate ought to do.

"This just shows what trouble we get into when we deviate from procedure," Russell said in pointing out that the Senate had deviated from procedure by voting to put the House bill on the calendar in the first place, thus bypassing the Judiciary Committee.

"We are driven to expediency after expediency," he said, "to tear down the whole structure of our rules.

The question was debated further without settling anything when Sens. Ervin (D-NC), Holland (D-Fla) and Sparkman (D-Ala) engaged Knowland, Dirksen (R-Ill) and Sen. Case (R-SD) in argument.

GOP'S MEET ON POLICY

This ground to a close the second day of debate that was interrupted first by a Republican Policy Committee meeting, and then by the parliamentary dispute.

Minority Leader Knowland agreed with Majority Leader Lyndon Johnson (Tex) for a recess until 11 a.m. tomorrow, but said he thought the Senate should start lengthening its legislative days in order to get his motion to a vote.

Many other Southern senators are awaiting their turn to speak against the motion.

Meanwhile, it seemed certain that Russell will get an audience with President Eisenhower on the bill, but neither the date nor the time for such a meeting is certain.

"We may rule and we may ride roughshod, but the fact remains that this bill has not been read a single time, and the cold record of the ruling of the chair will so indicate," Russell said.

The Georgian drew an analogy with a hypothetical law that might be passed in error so as to impose a $15 fine on a person for murder and make spitting on the sidewalk a death penalty offense.

In a further reference to the Senate's accepting the word of a House enrolling clerk about the error in the bill, Russell had this added comment, heavy with sarcasm:

"I hope in some future case that we surely will take the word of someone at least connected with the government and not just somebody walking down the street."

was very much in evidence at the meeting Tuesday.

Jenkins set the pace for the meeting with the comment:

"Gentlemen, I am convinced the time is ripe to wipe out lottery once and for all. Public opinion has reached the point where we can move vigorously and effectively."

SECRET STAFF

It was generally agreed that the number of men which the police department assigns to the squad and their identities will not be revealed. Jenkins stressed that Cox would be permitted to select the men he wanted and draw as many as needed from time to time.

Cox said he planned to call on officials in adjoining municipalities and counties immediately and ask for their cooperation.

SQUAD DISSOLVED

In the order creating the metropolitan squad, Jenkins dissolved the special lottery squad he created when the March-April Grand Jury began investigating reports of police-protected lottery.

Capt. E. O. Mullen and Sgt. L. L. Hause, who headed the squad, were transferred to the Detective Bureau on special assignment. Jenkins said men assigned on the squad reverted to their previous patrol car assignments.

Lt. M. M. Coppinger was selected to replace Cox as head of the burglary squad.

have been interpreted as political by some people," Hearn said, "but I have simply been trying to carry out my duties as I saw them."

Capitol reporters could not recall any specific political activity by Hearn although he has been mentioned infrequently as a possible candidate for lieutenant governor.

White, however, has openly displayed his support for Vandiver and has assisted Vandiver's office staff on occasion in greeting visitors to the lieutenant governor's office.

He said Griffin's action came as a "surprise to me."

"I had no idea it was coming," White declared.

White is listed on the state payroll as public information officer and office manager in the state Defense department at a $550 monthly salary. He had been employed by Vandiver when the lieutenant governor was adjutant general under former Gov. Talmadge.

The governor announced that Brig. Gen. Charlie F. Camp of Atlanta, assistant adjutant general, would serve as Hearn's acting replacement.

"The adjutant general is appointed by the governor to serve a term concurrently with the governor and to serve at the pleasure of the governor," Griffin declared.

Asked if he contemplated other changes in his administration, Griffin said he did not know. "I am not a prognosticator," he said.

"I'm going to proceed with my administration the best way I know how," Griffin said.

Reached at Dublin, where he took part in the dedication of a National Guard armory, Vandiver praised Hearn's record as a Guard official and state American Legion commander.

"The people of Georgia will be outraged," Vandiver declared.

Vandiver said Hearn had served in every rank in the National Guard from private to major general, serving well both throughout World War II and the Korean emergency. He said that Hearn had served the veterans as state commander of the American Legion.

National Guardsmen and civil defense workers "will resent bitterly the summary dismissal," he said.

Ivan Allen Eyes Governorship

He particularly emphasized the need for development of industry in the "50 to 70 counties which are going through the acute pains of transition from a rural economy."

"I feel in our present economy it is the responsibility of the state government to help the whole state by lending special emphasis in providing or assisting the creation of cash industrial jobs in small counties," he said.

Allen also said the acceleration of the state's industrial development by 25 to 50 per cent within the next few years is necessary in order to meet expanding state services within present revenue laws.

He foresees an increase in state spending of between $50 and $100 million within the next five years, primarily for higher education costs. Unless economic development keeps pace with growing need for services, he said taxes would have to be increased

Let Fans Sound Off: It Keeps TV on Toes

By PAUL JONES

Everybody, at one time or another, likes to sound off about television.

Popping off about the shows, the stars, the commercials has become a national pastime in the last two or three years.

Jones

People talk about it, write letters to the TV columnists about it, nag their congressmen about it, discuss it over the back fence, on the telephone, in the beauty parlor, on the trolley going to and from work.

Whenever two or more people get together, TV is certain to get into the act. We haven't heard of any bloodshed as a result of arguments about TV. But we do know a local theatrical agent who assumes a fighting pose whenever he hears a derogatory word spoken about Sid Caesar.

Callers and letter writers have often expressed the opinion that this department doesn't like anything about television. Many others have agreed wholeheartedly with what we have said, from time to time, about the various shows on television.

One thing is certain. This discussion of television is a healthy thing. When people stop talking about it, then that is the time for the producers and the sponsors to start worrying.

The mailman regularly brings letters from television fans who simply like to talk about TV. Most of these people don't have a bone to pick—they just like to talk about the shows they like best and to reminisce about some of the programs which are no longer seen on TV.

OCCASIONALLY A FAN jots down some of the things he dislikes about TV.

A Brunswick reader who prefers his initials, W.F.A., be used, takes a swing at TV in the morning mail.

Here, under the heading, "Some things I dislike about TV," is what he has to say:

1. MCs who "beg" for applause.

2. Audiences that applaud commercials.

3. Barbara Britton gasping for breath between lines of Revlon's commercials.

4. MCs who introduce night club comedians as sensational but who usually turn out to be downright silly and absolutely unfunny.

5. Vic Damone's poor imitation of Perry Como's relaxed performance. He sings too much.

6. Silly commercials such as Mickey Mantle smoking Viceroys. He doesn't even hold the cigaret right. Even his look as he "testifies" betrays the commercial's intent.

7. GAG WRITERS, now deservedly going from riches to rags—letting their lead lines get so obvious as they set up for the punch line that even a 7-year-old kid can second guess the comedian. No wonder this lot of performers (comedians) are down for the count (Neilson that is).

Barbara Britton

8. The disgusting commercialized films that are repeated over and over until you detest the product and sometimes even shudder at the mention of its name or when you see it in the store. They should change their slant or spiel—or production at least once a month even if they are expensive.

"These are a few of the things I dislike. Will list some more at a later date."

Just remember to put a stamp on the envelope Mr. W.F.A.

Shakespeare Earns $96,000 for Showgirl

NEW YORK, July 9 (UP)—Showgirl Barbara Hall, with barely a furrow wrinkling her pretty brow, rattled off the answers to six questions about Shakespeare tonight to run her quiz show earnings to $96,000 on "The $64,000 Question."

Also heading toward big money was Capt. Alan Villiers, skipper of the Mayflower II, which is now on exhibit in New York after sailing from England to America over the route taken by the Pilgrims 337 years ago.

Villiers boosted his winnings to $8,000 by answering a series of questions on his specialty, "The Seven Seas."

A newcomer to the show, elderly housewife Mrs. Muriel Hasbrouck, of New York, won $1,000 by identifying five characters and plays of George Bernard Shaw.

Professor Wins Reversal Of Contempt Conviction

Appeals Court That Upheld Verdict Switches, Conforms to Watkins Ruling

WASHINGTON, July 9 (AP)—The contempt of Congress conviction of Marcus Singer, a professor at Cornell University, has been thrown out by the U.S. Court of Appeals.

The court in April had upheld the conviction — for refusing to tell a congressional committee about his onetime Communist associates — but reversed itself in order to conform with the Supreme Court decision in the Watkins case in June.

The reversal was voted June 28 but the court did not make its order available until today.

CASE IS PRECEDENT

In the Watkins case, the Supreme Court reversed the contempt conviction of a man who refused to identify persons he had known as Communists in the past. The court held he had not been given a fair chance to know whether he was within his rights in refusing to answer questions.

This Watkins case precedent figured in two other cases today:

1. Atty. Joseph L. Rauh Jr., representing Arthur Miller, playwright husband of actress Marilyn Monroe, said he will ask again in Federal District Court that the contempt case against Miller be thrown out.

One of two contempt counts against Miller, who also refused to identify former Communist associates, has been dismissed but one is still standing. Rauh said he would cite the Singer case in his new requests. There has been no sentence yet in the Miller case.

DOES IT APPLY HERE?

2. U. S. District Judge Luther W. Youngdahl took under advisement a motion to set aside the contempt conviction of Seymour Peck. Peck has refused to name his Red associates of the past, and lawyers argued before Youngdahl today whether the Watkins precedent applies to him.

Peck, a New York newspaperman, was a witness before the Senate Internal Security subcommittee, Miller and Singer before the House Committee on un-American Activities.

Peck has received a 30-day suspended sentence and a fine of $500. Singer was given a suspended sentence of three months and a fine of $100.

Schrunk Wins Dismissal of Bribe Charge

PORTLAND, Ore., July 9 (AP)—An indictment charging Portland Mayor Terry Schrunk with taking a gambler's bribe was dismissed today by State Circuit Judge James Crawford, less than two weeks after Schrunk's acquittal of a charge of perjury.

That indictment accused him of lying when he told a vice-probing grand jury here that he did not take a bribe in September of 1955.

Judge Crawford threw out the bribe indictment at the request of Oregon Atty. Gen. Robert Y. Thornton.

Also dismissed by Crawford today were two indictments against Clifford Orban Bennett, a reluctant witness earlier this year before the U.S. Senate Rackets Committee.

The indictments charged Bennett with giving a bribe to Schrunk, and then lying about it before a grand jury.

Bank Starts Giving Lunch to Employes

NEW YORK, July 9 (UP)—The Hanover Bank today opened its program of delivering free lunch to its employes in a bank truck.

The unusual delivery service is part of the bank's service to workers in its new building in the financial district.

It has opened a restaurant for its employes with free meals because of "crowded conditions in public restaurants, and the unsatisfactory consequences to both the bank and its staff."

Lewis Denounces Bills To Guard Union Funds

By JOSEPH A. LOFTUS

(Copyright 1957 by The New York Times Co.)

WASHINGTON, July 9—John L. Lewis today delivered a free-wheeling attack on welfare and pension fund bills and their friends.

The president of the United Mine Workers got along so well with most members of the House Labor Committee that one of them remarked after the hearing that he probably had charmed them into killing the bills.

GOES UNCHALLENGED

For the most part, the committee was unprepared or unwilling to challenge Lewis' answers.

Lewis' main points were that there is enough legislation on the books, that what is needed is enforcement of existing laws and democratic action by union members if they don't like their leaders.

"Weak and timid" was his phrase for labor leaders who seek more legislation "to keep their organizations respectable."

"It is not the function of the state to control the morals of the individual," the white-maned miners' chieftain said.

But, suggested Rep. Frelinghuysen (R-NJ), wasn't it the function of the state to encourage better morals.

Lewis disagreed. "Let them indulge in the immorality and send them to the penitentiary," he boomed.

PAPER HOARD

Lewis said the union and the fund had to file "85,000 pieces of paper" with the government now. He enumerated some, including the withholding tax on the income of the employes of the union and the fund, and reports to the Internal Revenue Service to qualify for tax exemption. He cited these and certain provisions in the Taft-Hartley law that could be used to keep welfare and penson funds clean.

Frelinghuysen remarked that he was "delighted to see the Taft-Hartley law quoted with such vigor as a legislative tool in this field."

"Don't put words in my mouth," retorted the union leader, probably the most unremitting foe of the Taft-Hartley law. "I'm only responsible for what's in my mind, not in yours."

Lewis conceded, however, that he had said Taft-Hartley was "one of the tools" that made new legislation unnecessary.

South Expressway Stretch Will Be Opened July 25

Another mile-and-a-half stretch of the South Expressway will be officially opened at 10 a.m. July 25, extending the six-lane highway from University avenue north to Richardson street.

Alexander street will be closed at about 8 a.m. Wednesday for a nine-month period while a viaduct is constructed over the Expressway, City Construction Chief Ray Nixon said.

Peachtree street will be closed when viaducts are built over both Alexander and Courtland streets, Nixon said. The Courtland viaduct is to be completed by November, Nixon added.

Gov. Griffin will be the principal speaker at the dedication ceremonies to be held at the University avenue interchange. Also speaking will be new Highway Board Chairman Roy F. Chalker, County Commission Chairman Archie Lindsey and Mayor Hartsfield.

Work on the $4.5 million project has been under way since March, 1955. The new stretch has four bridges. It runs over University avenue, under the Southern Railroad tracks, under Pryor street and over Georgia avenue.

Permanent interchanges are located at University avenue and Georgia avenue on the new route. In addition, a temporary off-ramp is being constructed at Glenn street for northbound traffic.

Of construction costs, the federal government and Fulton County each paid $743,424. Right-of-way costs totaled between $2 million and $2.5 million, said John Quillian, state highway board member from the northern district.

Floridan Gets 5 Years In Sandwich Slaying

BARTOW, Fla., July 9 (UP)—A Negro man was sentenced to five years in prison today in the pistol death of a Negro store operator in an argument over a "possum sandwich."

Leroy Roberts of Pughsville was accused originally of first-degree murder of Robert Johnson, but the charge was dropped to aggravated assault. The state charged that Roberts killed the storekeeper after refusing to pay for the sandwich.

The bidding:

West	North	East	South
Pass	Pass	1 heart	2 diamonds
Pass	2 no trump	Pass	3 no trump
Pass	Pass	Pass

Today's hand produced a sizable swing in a recent team of four match when the North-South pair at one table bid and made five diamonds, whereas at the other table their adversaries reached three no trump on the bidding set forth here and were set under a barrage of five club tricks.

South felt victimized. He pointed to the highly sound quality of his overcall with special emphasis on the fact that he had provided a double heart stopper himself. North, on the other hand, contended that he had the full values for the bid which he had offered and that the whole thing should be written off to hard luck.

Perhaps so. Yet at the other table their adversaries viewed the deal with a certain amount of suspicion and exercised caution to wind up in a minor suit game.

After two passes East in each case opened with one heart. South overcalled with two diamonds and North, of course, tried two no trump. At once South's suspicions were aroused by the concentration of strength in hearts. If North had a sound heart stopper, East's suit must be feeble indeed and there was a grave danger that he held a secondary club suit to justify his opening bid. So South made a cue bid of three hearts. If North persisted with no trump it was South's intention to accept the contract, but North showed his diamond support and South proceeded to five diamonds.

West opened the queen of clubs and declarer ruffed the second round. Trumps were then drawn and declarer ruffed out dummy's remaining club. Declarer postponed taking the heart finesse temporarily to seek an additional chance to fulfill the contract.

He played ace, king and another spade. If West won the trick, the location of the queen of hearts would become immaterial. But East was in and returned the four of hearts. Again there was no hurry about the finesse and declarer cautiously played the nine. West's queen had to come up and the battle was over.

U.S. To Open Liquor Trial Here

The government said Tuesday it expects to open its trial this week against Richard V. Jenkins, Avondale, and eight others accused of operating a wholesale liquor business in dry counties.

Jenkins and the others are charged with operating a million-dollar liquor racket without paying required federal revenue.

An income tax evasion case against Jenkins, which was also scheduled to be tried this week, has been postponed until the September term of court.

Jerry Lewis Will Be Busiest Star Atlanta's Had for a Day

Jerry Lewis is coming to town Wednesday to fulfill the busiest schedule any screen star ever had here.

The zany comic who solved his partnership arrangement with Dean Martin almost a year ago, will appear on stage of the Fox Theater three times, on WSB-Television twice, at a local department store once, and on WSB-Radio twice during his visit.

Jerry Lewis

In between jumps to White Columns, the Fox Theater and the department store, Jerry will meet the press and tape interviews with disc jockeys from Atlanta's 13 radio stations. He will be seen on WSB-TV's noon newscast and on Clubhouse Gang.

Shortly after 7 p.m. Wednesday, Lewis will audition all of the talent which will be featured with Albert Coleman's Pop Concert orchestra this season. He is searching for "new faces" to sign to personal contracts.

The comedian is scheduled to arrive at approximately 2:30 a.m. When his plane sets down at the airport, U.S. Customs Agent in Charge Charles P. Simon and a customs office inspector will go aboard the plane and "frisk" Lewis and the nine members of his party and the three crew members. The chartered airliner which is bringing Lewis to Atlanta is flying here nonstop from Canada.

Permission to land the plane was obtained from the U.S. Customs Office in Savannah. This was necessary because the Atlanta airport is not an international airport. All persons and conveyances entering the U.S. from a foreign country are subject to such examinations.

Lewis will be here to ballyhoo his latest movie "The Delicate Delinquent," which opens Wednesday at the Fox Theater. His stage appearances will be at 3:30, 7:30 and 9:30 p.m.

Dominey Lauds Drivers, Patrol

Georgia motorists and state enforcement officers have won praise for keeping Georgia's July 4th weekend highway death toll the lowest in 17 years. Four persons were killed.

Col. W. C. Dominy, director of the Department of Public Safety, praised drivers for holding down the death toll. He said "In the final analysis it is the motorist himself who determines what the death toll will be."

Dominy also lauded the "excellent work" of law enforcement officers. Gov. Griffin asked Dominy to send letters of commendation to all uniformed state troopers and members of the GBI for their July 4th efforts.

In the nation, a total of 426 traffic deaths were recorded.

UP Puts News Before Blondes, SDX Told

A top United Press official Tuesday night reviewed UP's 50-year history for Atlanta journalists.

Assistant general news manager William (Bill) Payette told the Sigma Delta Xi journalism fraternity his wire service's first general order, in 1907, was:

"Wire operators using binoculars to look at blonds from office windows will be fired."

Heeding the spirit of this stern call to duty, Payette said, has enabled UP-men to come up with some notable firsts, including:

The first wireless news dispatch, first use of telephone to distribute stories, first 'human interest' story, first 'big name' interview and first financial, sports and radio news wires.

A Rhyme a Day

"Texas farmers, who had prayed singly and collectively for rains to break the drought, now complain they cannot plant their crops because the lands are too wet"—News item.

The Good Lord always knows what's best . . . and when He made it dry out West . . . there was some purpose in the plan . . . which can't be understood by man . . . so people who live on the plains . . . get restless when they have no rains.

But when, in answer to their prayer . . . the clouds go tumbling through the air . . . and there's a deluge from the sky . . . they ask The Lord to make it dry . . . or, at the least, to make it stop . . . till they can plant the cotton-crop.

A man is hard to satisfy . . . when it is wet he wants it dry . . . when it is hot he wants it cold . . . young children wish they could be old . . . all old women and old men . . . keep longing to be young again.

You Texans, now; watch how you pray! The Lord may send a flood your way . . . and you'll be caught without an ark . . . or mountain-top where you can park . . . and no dove with an olive-branch . . . can find you on that flooded ranch.

Bugs Top Rattlesnake In Killing Off Texans

AUSTIN, Tex. (AP)—Insect stings killed more Texans than rattlesnakes did last year, the State Health Dept. reports.

Two persons died of wasp stings, two from ant stings and two from rattlesnake bites. A scorpion sting killed one.

"The deaths from insect stings were rare instances of anaphylaxis caused by extreme sensitivity to insect venom," that in "an ordinary person would have no effect beyond an annoying itch," the report said.

Like Master, Like Dog

LIMA, Ohio (AP)—A dog can carry devotion to his master too far. Ask the James Wellbaum family here. When the Wellbaums' son Bill, 10, got the mumps, so did Penny, the family's five-month-old Chihuahua. As Bill was recovering, Jimmy, 6, and Randy, 3, came down with chicken pox.

Roaming Churchgoers Are Essentially Selfish, Narrow

QUESTION: I enjoy going from church to church rather than the monotonous going to the same one and hearing the same preacher so much. I feel I am getting a broader view of Christian truth. Is there a reason why I prefer this when most people settle down? — A. P.

ANSWER: It would be a sad day for the church if all members were like you. In fact there wouldn't be even a place for you to go. God never intended to build His church of the roaming type but of those who find their spiritual outlet and satisfaction through positive support and dependable attendance. I doubt if any minister is thrilled when you attend his service, and I also doubt if you are getting a broader view of the faith. Your view is essentially selfish for you are thinking only of yourself. Jesus once said, "Whosoever would save his life will lose it and whosoever would lose his love for My sake and for the Gospel shall find it."

Rachmaninoff Is Tops Under Russian Baton

RACHMANINOFF: Symphony No. 2 in E Minor. State Radio Orchestra of the U.S.S.R. conducted by Alexander Gauk. Westminster.

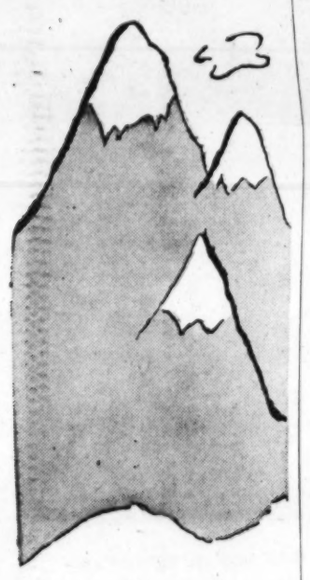

It would be difficult to find more satisfying music than that composed by Rachmaninoff. Here is an excellent performance of one of his rich, melodic works.

RONNIE BINGE AND HIS ORCHESTRA. Girl of My Dreams. RCA-Victor.

A soothing presentation of favorites such as Girl of My Dreams, All I Do is Dream of You, Beautiful Dreamer and When I Grow Too Old to Dream.

PAGANINI-KREISLER: Concerto in One Movement for Violin and Orchestra; Saint-Saens: Concerto No. 3 in B Minor for Violin and Orchestra. Campoli, violin, with the London Symphony Orchestra. London.

A Kreisler-like performance of Paganini's violin concerto as transcribed by Kreisler. It makes delightful listening.

Ford wins the battle of the builds

Sure! Many people buy Fords because of their long, low, whistle-collecting looks. Do you blame them? But beauty alone isn't enough to earn for a car the No. 1 spot in America's heart. And that's just what Ford has earned. The real secrets of Ford's success are the extra values that go into building a Ford. Let's look at a few of these features. Ford shares them only with a select number of America's most expensive cars. But you get them at low Ford prices.

1. Only Ford in its field offers a frame design that lets you ride within the frame side members for greater roominess, more smoothness and increased safety.

2. Only Ford in its field gives you a modern V-8 engine with rigid, deep-block design for smoother, quieter, longer-lived operation.

3. Only Ford in its field offers automatic variable-rate rear springs that automatically adjust to give a smoother ride no matter how rough the road conditions.

4. Only Ford in its field offers new swept-back ball-joint front suspension that "rolls with the punch" on bumps.

5. Only Ford in its field offers as many as five strengthening roof cross members for a more rigid roof . . . greater quiet and safety.

6. Only Ford offers such a savingful car. A Ford Six beat all other cars in the 1957 Mobilgas Economy Run in the miles-per-gallon department.

7. Only Ford in its field offers a frame with 3 tubular cross members. There are 5 cross members in all . . . enabling the frame to withstand stress from all directions.

8. Only Ford, among all makes, electronically balances every V-8 engine while it's operating under its own power.

9. Only Ford in its field offers so much soundproofing for a quieter ride under all road and weather conditions.

10. Only Ford in its field offers such a well sealed body for greater freedom from dust and weather wherever you travel.

Fatty Diet Still Much In Dispute

By DR. T. R. VAN DELLEN

Our high fat diet has been blamed for the increased number of heart attacks due to coronary thrombosis among Americans. Fat breaks down in the body into large molecules of cholesterol and other fatty substances that clings to the inner linings the arteries and lay the groundwork for arteriosclerosis.

This is the background for the growing popularity of low fat menus. But too many individuals are going off the beam and depriving themselves of the health promoting balanced diet. There is insufficient evidence to warrant this wholesale condemnation of fat.

Exceptions include the obese and those with a high blood cholesterol level, a family history of hardening of the coronary arteries, and persons who have had a heart attack.

Our knowledge of fat metabolism is relatively sparse and during the last few years our concepts along this line have changed several times. Low cholesterol meals were recommended originally to drop the cholesterol level of the blood. We soon learned, however, that a diet low in fat would do the same, which meant we could be more liberal with eggs and fish.

The next switch came when it was demonstrated that the blood cholesterol level could be lowered by adding certain vegetable fats to our meals. The most effective along this line were peanut, cottonseed, corn, and safflower oils.

Palm oil, lard, cocoa butter, and olive oil made the cholesterol level rise but not as much as did butter and coconut oil. All this indicated that the quantity is not as important as the quality and type of fat.

This led to the theory that saturated fats, which are of animal origina and solid room temperature, are more harmful than unsaturated vegetable oils that are liquid at room temperature. Then scientists decided that if both kinds were eaten at the same meal, the vegetable fats would nullify the adverse effects of animal fats.

The latest theory is that arteriosclerosis stems from a deficiency of the unsaturated fats. Apparently we are eating more animal fat than needed and less of the vegetable variety.

Because of these changes in ideas, most physicians are noncommital on the subject. It is the hottest question in medicine, and from the amount and intensity of the research going on, the right answers should come within the next few years.

Dr. Van Dellen will answer questions relating to health and hygiene in his column, and by mail when self-addressed, stamped envelope is enclosed. Letters should be addressed to Dr. Theodore R. Van Dellen, c/o The Atlanta Constitution, Atlanta 2, Ga.

Fred Williams Jr. Nominated for Traffic Court Job

Fred L. Williams Jr. has been nominated as clerk of the new state division of the Municipal Traffic Court.

Williams attended Georgia Tech for three years following his graduation from old Tech High School in 1922. He is a member of St. Philip's (Episcopal) Cathedral and senior deacon of Gate City Masonic Lodge No. 2.

All city officials, building inspectors and others working in the field of federal, state and local government and in fields related to city planning are invited to participate.

Styles Squeeze Budget

By RAYMONDE ALEXANDER
Constitution Fashion Editor

NEW YORK, July 9—Begin your piggy bank of dollars now because fashion for fall and winter definitely is going to sweep you off your budget.

As the designer showings of the New York couturier group gain momentum on this the second day of Press Week, there is much ado about dressing up—at all hours of the day and night.

Even the creations for the girl who has a social security number will look like something you'd expect of a Mrs. Astorbilt.

Particularly was this illusion the aim of the Branell showing dedicated to the young American woman-of-affairs—business and/or romantic. Famous for blithe little suits that look like dresses, and vice versa, Branell this season introduces a group, quiet in outline but with a going-places air.

REVOLUTIONARY FUR

Fur is used as a fabric and may revolutionize your career life. The slim, supple lines that American broadtail takes in tailoring, plus its wearing ability and little care requirement, can make the fur suit or jacket dress a business essential. And Branell sees to it that the price won't make this claim sound ridiculous.

Evening dresses love fur, too, and Branell isn't the first showing to present it as a touch of lushness for nightfall. More backs are astonishingly bare—several Branells simply have no backs at all down to the waistline, where a bow or drawstring sash cuts off the view.

This is the first season that Branell has presented evening gowns in the collection.

Branell and William Fox both go in for the little suit with the jacket waist length in front and a slight rounded dip in the back.

Silk chiffon satin is the new fabric with Fox. He is adept at making the most of it in street-length black dresses from which much success is expected. The Originala showing did not reveal as strong an inclination to the seven-eighths-length coat as did the Monte Sano collection.

Full-length coats with variances of the yoke back—gathered, pleated, swinging—showed the strong points. Close-fitting collars and stand-aways were equally frequent. Many colored coats have vivid contrast in chiffon scarfs.

Lutetia color is the new Originala shading. It's a soft, silverish hue, and even mink has been dyed to this natural color.

NO TENT SHAPE

The great cape-coat is typically Originala but this year it has none of the tentlike shape of the past. Its back has many gores and there is a closeness to its fit, both front and back.

Coat silhouettes are varied and soft, running the gamut from slim, wrapped, almond-shaped to luxurious fullness. A new fabric, minipoint, is introduced by Originala. It is a two-tone fleece with black underground and tiny points of color giving a muted iridescent effect.

The loose look came on the scene with the Claire McCardell showing. This is a take-it or belt-it look and it appears in suits and dresses.

An interesting flap-buttoned neckline fastens high and off-center, but opens out into a deep "V" with revers.

The softer the bulk, the slimmer it falls, is Miss McCardell's reasoning on fabrics. Dress fabrics vary from basketweave wools and chiffon worsteds to cashmere flannel, cashmere jersey, check-printed wool jersey, a new matelasse knit, and an airy printed wool challis.

All-in-one sleeves with underarm depth are characteristic of the collection, lending soft, sheer bulk to even the slenderest dresses.

Again this season, Miss McCardell seems to "invent" color. Blues range from true blue to hectic and purple, greens are almost colorless to vivid emerald checked with black. Tweeds and Shetlands are rustic in red clay.

For loyal Davidow fans, there is more news than usual. While retaining such traditional features as fine tailoring and quality fabrics, there is noticeable departure from seasons past in silhouette.

EPITOME OF DAVIDOW

Pockets are being used as an integral part of a free-form feeling. The softly fitted, belted suit, which is the epitome of Davidow design, now is seen with slim, moderately flaring skirts.

The Chanel-line suit appears in this collection, showing in brilliant tones. Many have companion blouses in matching wool jersey, crepe, sheer wool paisley.

The collection of Davidow coats is designed to combine with a suit to form an ensemble or to wear conveniently as part of your wardrobe. Styles in 32-inch lengths are prominent.

Most dramatic silhouette among coats is the hooded coat. It appeared in Originala's and Rosenstein's collection as well as Davidow.

Nettie Rosenstein takes a giant step from the free-form silhouette of Davidow with a collection featuring movement from start to finish.

Her "at ease" silhouette is balanced between full and slim, neither one predominating.

Black is a distinguished undercurrent—accompanied by flower-tone colors. There is no recognition of periods or influences—the look is wearable American — natural with the waistline placed where it belongs. Belts are the rule rather than the exception.

The costume, as much a part of a Rosenstein collection as Peachtree street is of Atlanta, continues in a starring role.

Coats, always accompanied by companion dresses, are monastic in their classic line. Called the monk coats, they are double-breasted with deep back yoke and gathers to supply fluted fullness.

Suits, with the charm of a dress, are a strong feature in the line. The jackets are short hipbone or waist-length, single or double-breasted, belted or unbelted. Skirts are slim.

Formal gowns appear in extravagant silks and laces. The low backs appear again. Black lace over flesh net gives the illusion of nudity but is used discretely. The long black crepe with waist-deep back decolletage and glove-tight wrist-length sleeves is the 1957 modernized version of the 1930 vamp.

Whereas Monte-Sano and Rosenstein are going into fall and winter with the longer suit jacket, Frechtel is sticking with the short length. Longest in his collection is 24 inches with most of them stopping at 20.

Boredom, Habit Cause Overeating

By IDA JEAN KAIN

One evening in the dining car of a transcontinental train, I overheard a conversation between two women as they tried to decide what to order. The conversation went something like this.

"I'm not in the least hungry," one woman remarked to her friend. "Nothing sounds tempting." The other woman replied that she wasn't a bit hungry either, but suggested that they might as well have the dinner. So they ordered the full course meal and went ahead and ate everything from appetizer to apple pie.

These women were on the heavy side, roughly 30 to 40 pounds overweight. Although in their own words they were "not in the least hungry," each proceeded to tuck away a full-size meal. Why? Probably because they were a bit bored and had nothing else to do.

EAT FROM HABIT

We eat from habit and humdrum as well as hunger. But the trouble is, when we eat for any reason other than to satisfy true hunger, this practice leads to avoirdupois. Overeating increases our food capacity, conditioning the stomach to expect quite a lot of food. It is easy to figure that overeating stems largely from habit.

If we ate strictly from hunger, we would not be overweight. Many people go through life eating what they please and their weight remains at desirable normal. Basically the reason is that such individuals do not choose to overeat. Through self-discipline they have conditioned their appetites to be content with moderate meals.

How can appetite be reconditioned? Recognize that it is trained appetite, not true hunger, that tempts you to eat beyond your requirements. Be alert to the fact that when you eat until replete—you've overeaten!

EXPERIMENT

Try this experiment tonight at dinner. Push away from the table before you feel completely satisfied. Get away from the sight and aroma of food and the desire to continue eating will wane. It's a good plan to relax in the living room with the newspaper or a good book.

Practice this plan for a few weeks, and you'll be delighted to make a new notch in your belt.

Opti-Mrs. Club Plans Meeting

Blessed Freedom Of Being 40!

Well, I don't mind saying it was a blow to me to hear that she was 40 years old!

A thing I never get used to is having my friends get old. And when I heard this one—a bright-eyed slip of a girl—was having her 40th birthday I got in that state you always get in when there's a death in somebody's family. You know, you want to express sympathy but you figure one more dollop of sympathy might be a burden to the already over-burdened.

And I plainly couldn't call up and say, "Gee, whillinkins, congratulations!" Or could I?

On second thought, maybe she is to be congratulated on being 40. And I don't mean I think Life Begins there either, no matter what the late Walter Pitkin had to say on the subject. I know when life begins and when it is more than half over and you can marshal all the old girls like Gloria Swanson and Marlene Dietrich who are simply loaded with glamour, although antiquated, as exhibits if you want to. I still think Debbie Reynolds is cuter.

But there's something to be said for 40, I suppose. For one thing you can let yourself go.

Now I know that kind of slack talk is heresy in this day and age. No woman is ever supposed to let herself go. It's supposed to be horrible for the morale if you don't keep yourself looking sharp and svelte and hold in your stomach and prance around the dance floor or get up on those water skis like you were 16. And why for goodness' sake?

This cult of the physical—looking good and acting athletic—is pretty silly when you carry it too far. Some of the most interesting, amusing and altogether fascinating people I know are decrepit as to body. Their hair is gray and their flesh is withered—but not their minds and their spirits! They no longer feel compelled to caper about as they did in their youth. To tell the truth, they're bored with the youthful preoccupation with the body, like you'd be bored with a trick dog if you had to watch him all day long. They have progressed to contemplation of things of the mind, even the soul.

And think of the blessed freedom of it, my newly 40 friend. Somebody asks you to dance. You say, "No, thank you, my feet hurt." Somebody suggests that you play a rooting, tooting game of tennis. You say, "Don't be silly. It winds me."

When you get to be 40 you don't have to try to be like the other kids. If it bores you to go to a beauty parlor, or maybe your head hurts to sleep in bobby pins, you can be a character and look frowsy. If you blister and peel and break out in a rash in the sun, okay, don't try to be brown like the other girls.

Of course, there's always love. I know enough by now to be aware that nobody ever gets too old to want somebody to love them. Unfortunately, as in the case of the bees and the flowers, you have to look good to attract that kind of attention and although I deplore it, I haven't any remedies to suggest. It won't do a bit of good to say that anybody who will fall in love with you for your figure or your complexion instead of the peerless charms of your spirit and soul isn't worth having. You might think, in a sudden burst of feeling old, that anybody is better than nobody.

In a case like that, the only thing I know to suggest is that you wait it out. Fifty will be here soon—and then maybe you can really rise above such foolish foibles as romance!

Blonde Actress Believes Hollywood Men Spoiled

By BETTY CARROLLTON

The bouncy blonde actress was surrounded by the scent of "My Sin" and the "Sweet Smell of Success."

Provocative Barbara Nichols, in Atlanta to ballyhoo her latest film, "Sweet Smell of Success," in which she is starred with Burt Lancaster and Tony Curtis, has some disillusioning words about Hollywood leading men.

"I prefer older men," she announced. "Those with wrinkles in their faces—you know, character lines."

And the actress finds such character lines lacking in the modern crop of young leading men.

OUTNUMBERED

She observed that in celluloid city, there are "so many more women than men, the men are spoiled." (And that from a girl who regularly makes the night-club circuits with a variety of escorts ranging from suave Michael Rennie to youthful John Smith.)

Barbara, who starred with Van Johnson in "Miracle in the Rain," Dana Andrews in "Beyond a Reasonable Doubt," Clark Gable in "The King and Four Queens," Frank Sinatra in "Pal Joey" and John Raitt in "Pajama Game," doesn't want to be a leading lady.

"Very few big parts are good parts," she insisted.

"So I don't get the guy in the picture, so what? What matters is whether or not the audience will remember me."

The blue-eyed beauty portrays a Broadway night-club hat-check girl in "Sweet Smell of Success." The girl has a misguided trust in Tony Curtis, a slick and double-dealing press agent.

"This is my first dramatic part," Barbara explained. "Making the movie was a lot of fun.

"Years ago," she recalled, "when I was a model in New York, I worked on a publicity campaign with a men's clothing firm. Part of the job was to select the 'tidiest' man of the month. I selected Tony Curtis. There were pictures of me and Tony in the papers when I presented him with a tie as part of the award.

"I never dreamed I'd ever make a movie with him."

PLEASED

Barbara was naturally pleased when she met Tony on the set and he remembered her.

"There's no such thing as an overnight star in Hollywood," the actress confided. "And talent isn't the main requirement for becoming a success. It takes a lot of luck, a good press agent — and good measurements!" (And Miss Nichols is in top form in the measurements department.)

While she still claims New York as headquarters, where her parents have a comfortable home on Long Island (Barbara was once named "Miss Long Island Duckling), the actress maintains a small ("but smart") apartment in Hollywood.

She likes popular, classical and bongo music—in that order — dislikes "crowds and phonies," enjoys watching boxing matches, and is "completely fascinated" when she's watching men play poker.

Although she admits she's "a poor housekeeper," Barbara likes to cook; lists goulash and spaghetti as her best dishes, but her favorite food is snails.

Her toy poodle is named "Samson," because "he has a large inferiority complex."

Barbara has no immediate plans for marriage. An available man is hard to find in Hollywood, she observed somewhat wistfully.

"But I haven't given up hoping," she declared.

During her visit here, the actress was made an honorary member of the Pince Mountain Peach Growers' Assn., and was presented a basket of Georgia peaches. The presentation was made by Grady Riggins of Woodbury.

Atlanta's Beauty Treatment Nets $750 for Northwest Residents

By YOLANDE GWIN

Atlanta, the leading lady on the Southern stage, has had her third successive beauty treatment by the same operators whose methods have won applause and a cash award of $750.

The "operators," residents of Northwest Atlanta, were first-place winners in the Atlanta Beautiful contest which was climaxed Tuesday at an awards breakfast at the Dinkler Plaza Hotel. They also won first place in 1955 and 1956.

Hubert Harris accepted the award and the honor for the area. Second place honors, as well as a cash prize of $500, went to the Capitol View Homes represented by Mrs. Charles Sacre. Mrs. Charles Biggers was on hand to receive the $250 award for the third-place winners, Kirkwood section.

TRASH COLLECTOR RESCUE

Fourth place plus $100 went to the Bolton area. Miss Peggy Osborne of the Atlanta Sanitary Department — quick to note that no one from the Bolton community was present — gulped down some more coffee, rose from the table and said: "I'll be the assistant trash collector and accept for them."

All the announcements of winners were revealed to the early morning eaters — it was 8 a.m. — by amusing and interesting chalk talks by Lou Erickson. Official presentation was made by Mayor Hartsfield.

SHE WASN'T COMING

When the chalk talk showed dogwood trees and a clubhouse, Mrs. Sacre giggled and nudged her breakfast companion. "Same thing my group (Capitol Homes) did," she whispered, "only we began a baby clinic and furnished a clubhouse in addition to planlting the 50 dogwood trees."

She was still whispering when her name was called as representative of the winning group.

Mrs. Biggers bubbled over with excitement when she realized her asociates in the Kirkwood area had won.

"You know, I hadn't planned to come, because I've been having some trouble with my back," she confided. "When Mrs. Gordon (Mrs. M. T. Gordon of the Women's Chamber of Commerce) called to ask me if I had made a reservation, something told me I had better be on hand. Oh, we have done a lot, like cleaning out old buildings, beautifying old lots and sore spots and seeing that vacant buildings look less dreary."

The Northwest Atlanta area staged a person-to-person campaign. Their beautification methods ran the gamut from individual drives to a community holiday when school closed and a giant parade was held.

The Atlanta Beautiful contest was sponsored by the United Committee which is composed of members of the Women' Chamber of Commerce, the Atlanta Chamber of Commerce and merce.

At Tuesday's breakfast, tables were laden with the usual good and fattening dishes. But it was the decorations which caused a lot of talk.

Miniature dump trucks filled with colorful tissue paper formed the focal points, while at intervals feather dusters fanned out of litter boxes. Small trash cans held cigaret and served as place cards. In charge of these appropriate accessories were Mrs. Sue Maston, Mrs. Doris Montague and Mrs. Helen Eberer.

The committee in charge of the event thought of everything. Bally-hooed since last fall as the time when a pot of gold would be found at the end of the rainbow, it all turned out to be a great day in the morning for the winners. Small pots filled with bags of gold (candy) served as the prizes. Checks will be mailed later.

Some slight delays might irritate, but if you haven't hurried earlier this week, it won't help now to rush into tomorrow's high tensions. Those born at the end of the sign Libra may have some unfinished business coming up soon. The Arians, too, may find themselves involved in some unreserved problem through other people, either partner, mate or business associate.

Both Librans and Arians need to examine their motives and check the facts on other people before acting.

Happy Birthday, Cancer! After seven years of more or less exciting events, the pace now can seem uneven and slow, but there are still unfinished situations to be cleared up possibly. Domestic issues can be unusual with some confusing element accented now and through to November.

YOU MAY HAVE WORMS AND NOT KNOW IT!

Fidgeting, nose-picking and a tormenting rectal itch are often tell-tale signs of Pin-Worms or Round Worms . . . ugly parasites that medical experts say infest one out of every three persons examined. Entire families may be victims and not know it.

To get rid of Worms, these pests must not only be killed, but killed in the intestines where they live and multiply. That's exactly what Jayne's tablets do . . . and here's how they do it:

First—a scientific coating carries the tablets into the bowels before they dissolve. Then—Jayne's modern, medically-approved ingredients go right to work — kill Worms quickly and easily.

Suspect in Macon Slaying Captured in Los Angeles

A Bibb County slaying suspect, who eluded a DeKalb County dragnet three weeks ago, was arrested Tuesday in Los Angeles, Calif., Bibb County Sheriff Lewis I. Wood said.

Jimmy Ray Bassett, 23, formerly of Miami, was seized near the downtown bus station by FBI agents and Los Angeles detectives, Wood said.

Wood said Charles Patterson, 24, who is being held without bond in Macon, had implicated Bassett in the June 10 slaying of Edgar Jones, a Bibb filling station operator.

Bassett slipped through the finger of two Stone Mountain policemen who attempted to pick him up for questioning on a lonely DeKalb County road June 19.

The State Patrol and Bibb County detectives joined DeKalb officers in the wooded DeKalb area in which Bassett was believed to be cornered.

Sheriff Wood said Patterson told him Bassett opened fire at Jones when the filling station operator surprised the pair during an attempted robbery.

After the fatal shooting, Patterson was quoted, he and Basset fled without obtaining any loot.

Detectives M. W. Blackwell and M. A. Johnson said the 16-year-old girl was turned over to juvenile authorities and her boy friend, John Gilbert, 31, Negro, of 215 Georgia Ave., SW, was jailed for investigation.

The Mitchell woman was quoted as saying the girl became jealous of Gilbert and threw a liquid, believed to be kerosene, over her clothing. While Gilbert was attempting to quell a disturbance between the two, she was quoted, the 16-year-old struck a match and set her clothing on fire.

She said she rolled on the floor to extinguish the flames.

Al THOMY

(Sports Editor Jesse Outlar is on vacation.)

Casey and the Humans

You can learn many things if you'll carefully watch a television screen. It may be just that you've got weak eyes, then again it may be educational. Like on Tuesday. Many reports have I heard to the contrary, and I was prone to believe them, but at 1:45 p.m., I learned the New York Yankees are humans and not supermen playing a super game.

Someone once said, "Don't believe anything you hear, and only half of what you see." Well, I watched two Yankees shave Yankee beards on the television screen. Discount half of that. Still, there was one Yankee shaving one Yankee beard. Using the scientific theory, only one conclusion is possible. Yankees shave, only humans shave. Therefore, ipso facto, the Yankees are human.

Thomy

Then, too, Casey Stengel, like a fellow named George, has never been known to tell a lie. Not that Stengel always tells the truth. It's just that no one has been able to decipher his conversations. This is far and beyond any scientific theory.

Anyway, Casey faced the television camera and told sportscaster Mel Allen: "There's something special about being a Yankee."

You'll notice he didn't say, "There's something special about being a Redleg."

Only Tuesday morning, Casey definitely intimated there's nothing special about being from Cincinnati. He had said: ". . . Sometimes it looks like politicians are at work and there are one or two players on my team I'd be a little leery of starting. The way they voted in a certain city would kill the whole thing, but you don't want to rob the public who comes to the game." Incidentally, that was one of his more articulate statements.

Cleveland, Casey insinuated, was no more special than Cincinnati. He had planned on starting grizzled Early Wynn against the National League All-Stars, but Kerby Farrell beat him to the punch and used Wynn against the Chicago All-Stars on Sunday. Second choice was long Jim Bunning, a 10-2 toiler at Detroit who comes from just outside Cincinnati. A perfect second choice, as the game proved.

—Wherein Stan Swung at Yogi's Noggin

Came game time, and the cameras focused on Stengel taking his lineup card to plate umpire Frank Dascoli, a monstrous fellow who seemed to have control at all times, due in part, perhaps, to his tremendous size. Casey paused, seemed undecided. Should he bring in his Yankees at the first opportunity? Would Bunning be up to the task? Many questions ran through his mind, perhaps logical ones.

Bunning rocked along like he'd been born in the McDaniel family.

Genial Stan Musial, playing in his 14th game, playfully swung a bat at Yogi Berra's noggin, and only Stengel knows what's under Yogi's cap. Ted Williams, appearing in his 13th All-Star game, shook off a sign from the third base coach, and an office wag cracked, "Don't spit at him, Ted."

Mickey Mantle beat out a hit to short, and city editor Howell Jones rushed in to ask, "Who was that?" He was joking. Yankee fan Jones would recognize a Yankee on the other side of Stone Mountain. The Americans scored two runs, but everyone missed it. They were looking at a picture of a bathing beauty sitting in a pond.

After three hitless innings, Bunning made his exit, and Celestine Sibley, the woman's page columnist, made her entrance. "Is that Lou Gerhig playing first base?" she asked. The answer was no. "This is baseball, isn't it?"

Leo Aikman, editorial page humorist, entered. "Lefty Grove pitching?" No, Billy Pierce. "Well, I once saw Babe Ruth point to the stands, then hit a home run there." How time flies, eh, Leo?

The battle went on, on television, not in the newsroom.

"Loes is in trouble," said Howell Jones. "Mays is no stranger to him." And Cal Cox elaborated, "That's the trouble with Loes. No one is a stranger to him."

—The Majority Rules . . . and They're Yanks

Musial doubled off the right boards, and Williams came face to face with Lew Burdette, the saliva duel of the century. "Get out the spittoons," said a viewer.

Ex-Cracker Eddie Mathews got a hit, and didn't get one. He lined to right, and Frank Robinson, thinking it would be caught, was doubled at second on a fine Al Kaline throw, the same Kaline who later took a double away from Red Schoendienst with a great leap.

Early Wynn made his appearance, and met himself coming out of the game.

"Is that Burns Mantle, the critic?" asked Celestine Sibley. No. They fought down to the bottom of the ninth, the shouting and the tumult increasing with every pitch. With the score 6-5, and Gil Hodges batting for Clem Labine, Casey went to the bullpen for his own Bob Grim. He gave Grim three pats on the back, and Grim gave Hodges a bad pitch, then a fly-ball throw to left. The game was over.

Look at the lineup which finished for the Americans. Mantle (not Burns Mantle) in center, Gil McDougald at short, Moose Skowron on first, Yogi Berra behind the plate, and Grim on the pitcher's mound. All Yankees. And there was Stengel calling the shots, and Frank Crosetti and Jim Turner coaching the bases. All Yankees. And there was Mel Allen in the television booth, a Yankee sportscaster.

Cincinnati may have packed the ballot boxes, but the Yankees were in the majority at the finish. As Jones put it: "There are Yankees on first, Yankees on second, and Yankees at bat."

The Yankees are human, true. They shave. But on the diamond . . . "there's something special about being a Yankee."

AL Stars Nip Nationals, 6-5

Grim and Minoso Call Halt To Ninth-Inning NL Rally

By JACK HAND

ST. LOUIS, July 9 (AP)—A dying gasp ninth-inning rally by the National League fell one run short today as Casey Stengel's American Leaguers barely saved a 6-5 victory in the 24th All-Star game.

Stengel, battling against the jinx that had seen him lose five of six previous games, changed pitchers wildly in the ninth until Bob Grim, his own New York Yankee bullpen ace, finally closed it out on Gil Hodges' dangerous line drive caught by Chicago's Minnie Minoso.

Grim took over after Chicago's Billy Pierce had blown most of a comfortable lead and Cleveland's Don Mossi had let the favorites shave the margin to one run.

With Ernie Banks of the Chicago Cubs on second base representing the tying run, Manager Walter Alston called upon Hodges, his own Brooklyn clutch hitter, as a pinch hitter.

Grim threw a ball to Hodges. Then Hodges ripped a low liner to left that sounded like bad news for the Americans. But Minoso gathered it in for the final out.

They might be playing yet if Gus Bell, trying to go from first to third on Banks' single, hadn't been cut down by Minoso's peg to Frank Malzone of Boston in the midst of the rally.

Instead of the men on second and third with one out, the Nationals had only a man on second and two gone. Grim's job was cut out for him and he came through—with Minoso's help.

Three big runs for the Americans—two of them unearned—in the top of the ninth off Clem Labine, the Brooklyn bullpen pitcher, seemed to have put the game beyond reach. It made the score 6-2.

Pierce, fourth pitcher for Stengel's side, had snuffed out the National's lone previous threat in the seventh and had struck out three of the five men he faced in the seventh and eighth.

Pierce, who had allowed one run in nine previous All-Star innings, suddenly lost his stuff in the ninth. He walked Stan Musial, playing his 14th game, and then gave up a triple by Willie Mays of New York into the right field corner.

Bearing down against pinch hitter Hank Foiles, Pierce cut loose with a wild pitch, letting Mays score and a 6-2 lead suddenly had been cut to 6-4.

When Pierce walked Bell of Cincinnati on four straight pitches after Pittsburgh's Foiles singled to center, Stengel decided he had enough. Mossi, another lefty, came to the rescue.

Mossi struck out Milwaukee's Eddie Mathews as Alston let the slugger hit away without bunting with men on first and second and nobody out. The third strike was a beautiful slow curve that drifted across the plate while Mathews stood looking.

Meeks Mauls Pair for Crax

By AL THOMY

Lefty Ken MacKenzie survived a heavy artillery shelling to pitch Atlanta's Crackers to a 9-7 decision over Chattanooga Tuesday night before 2,674 television night patrons at Ponce De Leon Park.

The well-earned triumph moved the second-place Crackers within two games of league-leading Nashville, which lost to Birmingham. There's still hope for a Ponce de Leon All-Star game later this month.

If nothing else, the game proved one thing: It's not the number of long-range shots so much as it is the placement of same.

The Lookouts scored all seven runs on the long knock. Jess Levan, former Cracker first baseman, continued to edge his way out of a prolonged slump. He sent two of MacKenzie's pitches far over the right field fence, and batted in five runs. Guy Morton, who feasts on Cracker pitching, and Harmon Killebrew slammed solo homers.

Hero of the home team was veteran Sammy Meeks, who has begun to find the range. He lashed his second and third homers of the season, and drove home four runs. More important, his last all-the-way blast produced the eighth and ninth runs, the winning margin.

Dick Phillips also had a homer, his 10th, in the first inning. And Ev Joyner, though without a hit, had two RBIs on sacrifice flies. Singles by Joe Morgan and Bob Montag got the other runs.

Two big innings whipped the Looks.

It all started in round No. 1. Morgan walked, and an out later, Frank DiPrima doubled to right. Joyner lifted a sacrifice fly to right for a run, and Meeks dropped a lazy floater over the left field barrier for two more. Phillips then lined a shot over the first tier in right.

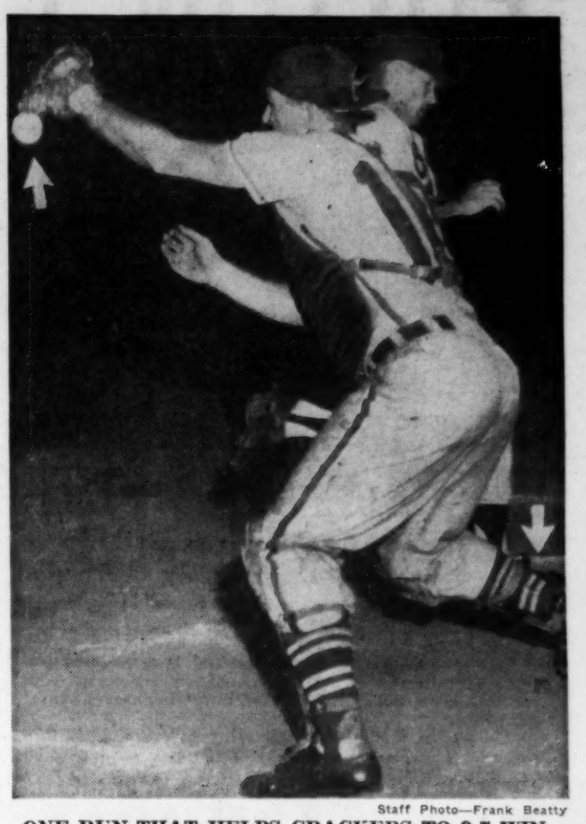

Levan threw a scare into the partisans when MacKenzie got into his first jam in the fourth. Up to that point, he had retired nine straight batters.

Stan Roseboro tripled off the right boards. Manager Cal Ermer held him up when Bob Allison flied to center. MacKenzie walked Vern Morgan to set up disaster in the form of Levan, who laid into a pitch and sent it out of sight, behind the second tier.

Soft-pitching Al Sima, who had replaced starter Bunky Stewart in the first, had his troubles in the fifth as the Crackers erupted for five big runs, a 9-3 lead.

He handed MacKenzie a free pass with one gone. Successive singles by Morgan, Montag and DiPrima got two runs, and Joyner

MINNIE'S ARM PUT NATIONAL LEAGUE'S GUS BELL DOWN AND OUT

American Stars' Victory Hopes Flickered Until Frank Malzone Made Tag at Third in Ninth

SIDELIGHTS ON STARS

Minnie Cuts Short His Vacation And National League's Rally

From Press Dispatches

One man ran, another didn't and "vacationing" Minnie Minoso became the American League's good luck charm and hero in Tuesday's All-Star game.

Minoso, playing in his first all-star game since 1954—last time the American League won, cut down the man who ran with a perfect ninth-inning throw. Al Kaline's trap, scoop and peg chopped off another National League rally earlier when Frank Robinson hesitated between first and second.

"When the seventh inning she come I theek I going have vacation today," Cuban Minoso exclaimed in the dressing room following the 6-5 American League victory.

Instead the Chicago White Sox outfielder came off the bench to double in what proved to be the winning run, grabbed a ninth inning single to throw out Gus Bell at third and cut short a National League rally, then chased down a Gil Hodges' line drive to end the game.

Kaline refused to condemn Cincinnati outfielder Robinson for failing to run in the fifth. The Detroit slugger turned a "hit" for Ed Mathews into a force play when Robinson retreated toward first and Kaline fired the ball to second.

"There were no outs and I didn't want to be running," Robinson said. "Kaline charged the ball and he didn't miss catching it by much."

Bell, who tried to go to third on a ninth-inning single by Ernie Banks, thought he was safe but "I guess I wasn't."

Manager Walt Alston defended

Red Schoendienst Minnie Minoso

Bell and his own ninth inning strategy.

"I think Bell did the right thing," Alston said. "It would have been pretty nice to have had that tying run on third with only one out. I wanted him to go for third if he had a chance."

"It took a perfect throw to get him and Minoso made it."

Alston was high in his praise of the American League pitching, terming it the outstanding factor in the ball game. As to his ninth-inning strategy with no outs, two on and Ed Mathews at bat:

"I thought about bunting, but Mathews is a good lefthanded hitter and left-handers don't bother him."

Lefthander Don Mossi of Cleveland got Mathews on a called third strike.

American League Manager Stengel also praised the American League pitchers, especially Jim Bunning of Detroit, who retired nine batters in succession. But Casey used Billy Pierce's ninth-inning collapse to renew his campaign for a rule barring use of all-star pitchers immediately before the game.

"Billy was just tired," Stengel said," and it's no wonder, he just pitched Saturday."

For second baseman Red Schoendienst it was a bad day all-round. He was robbed of at least a double when Kaline leaped to grab his line drive off the screen and he committed an error that opened the way for three American League runs in the ninth.

Then, when the Milwaukee player hurried to Union Station to catch a train, he was stopped by police for speeding 58 miles in a 30-mile zone. The patrolman, possibly a National League fan, presented him with a ticket and summons to appear in court Aug. 13.

The fans, mostly National League supporters in the Cardinals' home park, were well-fed, if not well-entertained. Busch Stadium concessionaires had a food supply of 40,000 hot dogs and buns, 200 gallons of relish, 100 gallons of mustard, 40,000 bottles each of beer and soda pop, 30,000 bags of peanuts and 500 pounds of popcorn.

TV BOBBLES KEY PLAY ON BELL IN ALL-STAR

NEW YORK, July 9 (AP)—Television bobbled the key play in the last of the ninth inning of the All-Star game in St. Louis today.

This was the situation: the National Leaguers had two runs in, trailing by 6-4, and runners on first and second with one out. Ernie Banks singled off Frank Malzone's glove at third base.

The screen showed the ball going into left field, then switched to Hank Foiles scoring. While this was going on Gus Bell, who had been on first, tried to take third, but none of this showed on the screen. Just as announcer Mel Allen said "he's out" the cameras switched to third base, but it was too late. All the screen showed was the umpire's hand raised in the out gesture and Bell getting to his feet.

What had happened? Why had Bell tried to take an extra base and risked a vital second out when he was almost as dangerous on second? Did he do it on his own, or had third base coach Bobby Bragan waved him on?

These questions went unanswered as pinch hitter Gil Hodges lined to Minnie Minoso for the final out.

Franchise Shifts Top Minor Meet

Hurth, Prexies Talk With Frick

ST. LOUIS, July 9 (UP)—Commissioner Ford Frick summoned the presidents of the top seven minor leagues to a special meeting tomorrow at which preliminary steps leading to the most drastic franchise changes in baseball history may be taken.

The changes will become necessary if the Brooklyn Dodgers and New York Giants should move to Los Angeles and San Francisco, respectively.

Meeting with Frick and George Trautman, head of the minors, will be presidents Leslie O'Connor of the Pacific Coast League, Ed Doherty of the American Association, Frank Shaughnessy of the International League, Charles Hurth of the Southern Association, Dick Butler of the Texas League, Tommy Richardson of the Eastern League and O.M. Hobbs of the Western League.

Hollywood Gets Tony Bartirome

SAN FRANCISCO, Calif., July 9 (AP)—Little Rock Tuesday lost the services of its pesky-hitting first baseman Tony Bartirome. Hollywood of the Pacific Coast League, managed by ex-Atlanta manager Clyde King, recalled him from the Southern Assn. Club. Bartirome was hitting .314.

ATLANTAN'S PRIZE CATCH IN PACIFIC WATERS
Tommy Reeder Stands Beside His 135-Pound Sailfish

REPORT FROM OUTDOORS

CAUGHT YEAR'S BIGGEST SAIL, BUT HAD TO READ ABOUT IT

By JIM CARSON

Tommy Reeder, Atlanta sporting goods man, was back in the states last weekend before discovering the sailfish he caught Friday in the Pacific off the coast of Acapulco was the largest in those waters this season.

Jim Carson

Reeder and his fishing companion, Atlanta physician Dr. Harry Ridley, made the discovery while reading a newspaper at the San Antonio, Texas, airport Sunday.

The sport page of the San Antonio Light carried the picture of a Texan who had hooked a 128-pound sailfish measuring 9½ feet in length. It labeled the fish 'biggest off Acapulco this season.'

Reeder's catch was a 135-pounder, however, and matched exactly the Texan's in length.

For the record, Reeder's catch exceeds by 12 pounds the largest sailfish ever taken from the Atlantic waters. However, the record Pacific sail catch weighed 221 pounds and measured 10 feet, 9 inches.

The story of Reeder's catch is assurance enough that one sailfish is all you want per trip.

"I had to work with it about 30 minutes," Reeder said, "and it was really a tussle.

"We were trolling, using mullet for bait, about nine miles out. We had started back when I got the strike on an outrigger line and set the hook good. Incidentally, it was our second strike and I'd missed the first one.

"The big sail must have taken off towards Japan, because he took about 60 feet of line. Then he jumped completely out of the water. I knew then I had a real catch.

"He started back toward the boat and the long struggle of reeling him in began. When I finally got the fish up to the boat, two of the boat crew (Mexicans) grabbed it by that long bill and wrestled with it. As soon as they got a good hold on it, another one of the Mexicans knocked it out with a club.

"In all," Reeder said, "I suppose the big sail broke completely out of the water eight or nine times. And that's the beautiful part of catching one."

Another interesting thing about these fish, Reeder pointed out, is the way they change color.

When it's in the water it is a shiny black with blue sails. After taken on deck, the fish turns a rich blue and green.

Unlike its salt-water cohabitants, the pompano and mackerel, the sailfish is not good on the dinner table.

Anyway, when you get a 135-pounder, it belongs on a mounting in the den. Somebody is always wanting to see the big one that didn't get away, but Reeder isn't even keeping it for that.

LAUSANNE, Switzerland, July 9 (AP)—Otto Mayer, chancellor of the International Olympic Committee, announced today the committee has formally approved the proposal that the 1960 Squaw Valley, Calif., Winter Olympics be held during the second half of February.

The Squaw Valley Organizing Committee and the International Sports Federations agreed on the later date because of the special climatic conditions at Squaw Valley, Mayer said. The games are to open on or after Feb. 15 and to end on or before Feb. 29.

Sharp Rademacher Switches From Bags to Sparmates

Live Objects Come Thursday

By GEORGE CUNNINGHAM
Constitution Sports Writer

LAKE HUSTON, July 9—Pete Rademacher put in his ninth day of bag pounding here Tuesday, ripping through an hour-long timing and coordination drill that brought murmurs from a ringside audience.

The aspirant for Floyd Patterson's world heavyweight championship continues slugging inanimate objects for one more day before turning loose his fists on the live kind Thursday.

One sparring partner already has arrived in the picturesque fight camp and others are scheduled to show up here in the near future.

Herman Harris, 170-pound journeyman from Columbus, will be the first to don the 14-ounce mitts with Rademacher. Trainer George Chemeres said that Rademacher probably would work two rounds with Harris Thursday and that the tempo would increase as the Aug. 22 bout in Seattle nears.

Actually Harris is a fill-in until more experienced mates get here. Chemeres said he expected veteran Seattle battler Johnny Riggins, along with Joey Gannon of Washington, D.C., and two unnamed fighters from Miami.

Riggins has impressive fight camp credentials. He sparred 100 rounds with Patterson when the now-champ was getting ready for Hurricane Jackson the first time. More recently, he was Archie Moore's chief playmate during preparations for the Moore-Patterson brawl.

Gannon, who arrives July 20, also is familiar with the Patterson style, having lost a decision of the king.

Rademacher's timing and coordination appeared anything but that of a heavyweight who had been in training only nine days after a layoff of six months.

He played a slow, deadly tit-tat-too with a spinning punching bag, and his left hook, which appears his best punch, several times rattled the rafters of the open-sided gym on the edges of the frigid Tom Huston swimming pool.

And all the time Rademacher was under strict orders to stow away the power.

The graduate of Washington State College said he felt sharper than in any previous workout.

"I'm anxious to start sparring, because I feel like I'm getting in the groove. My punches are beginning to fall into place," Rademacher said.

Harris Pete's First Partner

Chemeres said the heavyweight hopeful was down to 211 pounds, three above the total he'll climb through the ropes 34 nights from now at Seattle.

Dempsey Terms Bout 'Ridiculous'

SAN FRANCISCO, July 9 (AP)—Jack Dempsey said today it was ridiculous to match heavyweight champion Floyd Patterson against Olympian Pete Rademacher in Pete's first professional fight.

The pair are scheduled for an Aug. 22 Seattle bout if Patterson whips Tommy (Hurricane) Jackson on July 29.

Dempsey said in an interview that if anyone "in the old days" had proposed tossing an amateur in with the champ "he'd be locked up."

The Manassa Mauler said that if the 28-year-old Rademacher has the ability he should be matched with ranking challengers.

"If he's any good, let's see him," he said.

It's Dempsey's opinion the Rademacher-Patterson match reflects the lack of ring talent today. "You don't make fighters overnight," he said. "It takes time and experience."

Angler's Thumb Bait Enough For Blind Bass

HOT SPRINGS, Ark., July 9 (AP)—Beck Looper of Jones Mills, Ark., said yesterday he caught a blind 6½-pound bass at nearby Lake Catherine with his thumb.

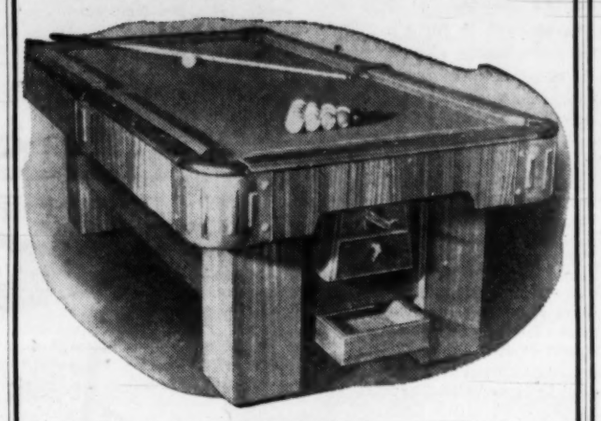

This is Looper's version:

He noticed that the fish was trapped in a deep hole along shallow water near the shore. Looper waded to the spot, stirred the water above the hole with his hand and then stuck his hand into the hole.

The bass, apparently hungry and enraged, bit Looper's thumb and Looper pulled it out.

CRACKERS

added a third with his second sacrifice fly. Meeks clinched matters with a two-run blast over left, this one with more steam than the first.

The Looks rallied for three in the sixth on a single by Vern Morgan and back-to-back home runs by Levan and Morton.

MacKenzie settled down to throw effectively until Killebrew opened the ninth with a blast deep into left. However, Mac got Ernie Oravetz on a fly to center, and whiffed Waldo Gonzalez and pinch-hitter Bruce Barmes to notch his sixth win against four losses.

He had eight strikeouts, only one walk.

Not a Cracker whiffed as the Atlantans made every hit count. Each club had a total of eight.

On Wednesday, manager Buddy Bates sends Jack O'Donnell (10-7) into action in an effort to get the Crackers' third straight victory. Right-hander Hal Griggs (11-7), a former Atlanta schoolboy, will work for the Looks.

Cracker Diary: Joe Engel and his fabulous "shower of greenbacks" come into Ponce de Leon Park Wednesday night. Dancing girls will distribute the money during the game, probably after seven innings, and some lucky ticket holder from the stands will go after it. It's an Engel special. . . . Cracker right-hander Ben Johnson is still ailing with a stiff shoulder. Catcher Sammy Taylor is able to play, but trainer Jim Bernhardt says a couple days of rest are needed for complete recovery. Taylor did not play Tuesday.

Bagley, Waites Lead Peach Field

Calvin Bagley and Frank Waites, each with two Peach Bowl victories this season, battle each other plus a field of 20 drivers Wednesday night to become the first three-time winner of the year.

The 25-lap feature for sportsmen follows a six-event program of heat races in the weekly Peach Bowl show. Gerald Duke, Red Bryant and Robert Morris are among the other leading entries for the 8:30 program.

Golf for All

New Clubs, New Game: An Ace for Sprague

By Bert Prather

Unless some of our local club correspondents are still sitting on the story, George Sprague, 1955 Bobby Jones club champion, is the only one of thousands who took aim at par three holes here during the busy Fourth of July week to score a bull's eye.

Bert Prather

George racked up his first ace on the 136-yard No. 3 plateau toughie at Jones. His weapon was a five iron.

Playing companions during his thrilling round were Dick Wintersteen, Jim Bryant and J. B. Jackson.

Incidentally, Sprague was playing with a brand new set of clubs. Bobby Jones pro Billy Wilson will gladly sell anyone a similar set. Just call by his shop.

Gene Stott is one fellow who'll not let a missed tee shot upset his next effort. While playing in a foursome with Tony Phillips, Buck Sechler and Jim McClanahan at Druid Hills, Gene's drive misfired on No. 11. He calmly took a three wood from his bag and knocked the ball into the hole for an eagle deuce. Gene had a 79 on the round. Phillips, who wasn't supposed to do it, posted the best score of the round, a 76.

CHIP SHOTS: E. E. Vines couldn't collect from partners Paul Pierce, Twink Johnson and Buddy Vines on it but he shot a "birdie" on No. 4 at North Fulton the other day. E. E.'s bird was a real one, his drive hitting a bluebird in flight. . . . Roy Ford is leading early qualifiers for North Fulton club championship with a 79. . . . Frank Love, a 16 handicapper, posted an 83 at Peachtree, his best score to date. . . . Ralph Garrard, L. W. Robert III, A. J. Bows, Quentin Bittle, L. M. Nichols and R. H. White were blind bogey winners at Peachtree with 75s.

John Maddox has finished his stint with the Navy and rejoined his young golfing pals at Capital City. Marshall Weaver and J. C. Osborne tied for A division honors in CC's flag tourney July 4. Dr. J. T. Akin Jr., won in B and Ward Wight Jr., in C. Forest Fowler was medalist in Capital City's senior championship. He matched par 71. W. D. (Shorty) Taulman is defending champ. . . . Scottie Campbell marked down his first eagle when he got home in three on first hole at Wilson's Bobby Jones course last weekend. George Ragsdale, Don Gaebelein and Tom Erwin were there to offer congratulations. Wilson reports over 1,000 played Bobby Jones GC during Fourth of July week.

Although many members were out of town during the holidays, East Lake had 304 players on Independence Day, 226 Saturday and 175 Sunday. Seventy-six competed in the Lake's O. B. Keeler day with H. L. Creecy the winner. . . . Dr. Craig Flynn a normal 85 shooter, shot a 34-40—74 Sunday at Druid Hills. DH's President Cup tourney is now in full swing. T. W. Daniels and Al Long were DHGC blind bogey winners. Winning number was 81.

Mrs. R. I. Gunnell of East Lake, with net 66-74—140, held first place in Atlanta Women's Golf Assn.-Wiley Moore handicap tourney following second round play Tuesday at Capital City. Mrs. Donald McKie, also of East Lake, with a 148, was second, while Mrs. Jim Clay of Capital City, and Mrs. Charles Altman of Ansley, shared second with 150s. Third and final round will be played next Tuesday at Druid Hills. . . . J. A. Womack Sr. and Wilbur Owen tied for first in West End GC blind bogey. H. M. Major placed second.

Field of 123 Golfers Seeking Junior Title Vacated by Ware

Augusta Tourney Begins Today

By BERT PRATHER
Constitution Sports Writer

AUGUSTA, July 9—With Cobby Ware's two-year reign as king of Georgia's junior golfers terminated by the 18-year age limit, 123 eager youngsters were poised at Augusta Country Club to make a run for his vacated State crown, starting bright and early Wednesday morning.

Bill Raines, general chairman of the Jaycee-sponsored event, felt pretty confident that the tournament would produce a worthy successor to the popular Ware, now a prime candidate for Coach Howell Hollis' University of Georgia links combine.

But just who will emerge victorious in the 72-hole stroke event, which winds up Friday, has the sideliners in a dither.

Billy Gibson, 16-year-old Augustan who cut such fancy capers in last week's Thomasville's Piney Woods invitation, has gained heavy support, especially from the homefolks.

However, the delegates from Columbus can't see any reason why their John Brim shouldn't be top favorite. After all, John has whipped many of these boys in taking the state high school AAA title and in winning the USGA juniors sectional in Atlanta just a week ago.

Then from Atlantans you'll get solid votes for Don Patterson, the Druid Hills 17-year-old with the unorthodox swing. Jerry Greenbaum is another from Atlanta who will bear watching, provided he has regained the form that sent him to the semi-final round of the 1957 men's Southern Amateur at Miami.

South Georgians will tell you to keep an eye on talented Bill Ploeger of Darien; Boog Layton and Larry Sears, Waycross; Joe Collins, Thomasville, and Jimmy Blanchard, Valdosta.

Gibson Brim Among Favorites

Low 32 and ties in Wednesday's round will compose the championship. Others will be placed in lights. In addition to the champion, next three low scorers will make the team which will represent the state in International Jaycee championship at Columbus, Ohio.

Havalanta Tune-Ups Begin Today

First of three city swimming meets designed to afford young Atlanta swimmers warmup events prior to the Greater Atlanta championships is scheduled Wednesday at Garden Hills Pool.

The recreation department-sponsored meets, open to midget, junior and senior competitors, continue Thursday at Candler Park Pool and Friday at John A. White Pool. Meets begin at 4 p.m. each day.

Competition is open in novice events for midgets in the 9-and-under and 11-and-under age groups. Swimmer events are Registraiton for the meets will open in the same groups, plus divisions for juniors (14 and under) and seniors (15 and over), begin at 3:30, with no entry fee other than the usual admission price to the pool.

Tipton Hit Clips Vols In 9th, 2-1

From Press Dispatches

Joe Tipton, veteran McCaysville, Ga., catcher now in the spangles of Birmingham, slapped a tie-breaking ninth-inning single Tuesday that gave the Barons a 2-1 decision over league-leading Nashville. The loss cut the Vols' Southern Assn. lead to two games over Atlanta. And Birmingham moved into third place ahead of Memphis.

Elsewhere in the Southern, Stan Johnson fired a steady five-hitter at Memphis and the New Orleans Pelicans stopped the Chicks, 2-1; at Mobile, only 348 fans watched the Bears rock Troy Herriage for four runs in the seventh and a 4-3 victory over Little Rock.

Bunning's 3 Perfect Innings Set Stage for All-Star Triumph

Detroit Quartet Shines in Win

field driving home Folies. Bell stormed into third, to be cut down by Minoso's throw in a rally-breaking play.

Although Banks had raced to second on the throw that got Bell, Grim came on to get Hodges.

The victory boosted the American's margin in the series to 14-10. It was the second win for the American, since 1949.

Almost forgotten in the ninth inning dramatics was the sensational pitching of Jim Bunning, 25, the Detroit starter, who pitched three perfect innings to earn the victory.

In fact, Detroit was a most important factor in this American League success.

Al Kaline, in right field, made a fine leaping catch on Brave Red Schoendienst's long drive to the right field wall in the sixth. In the fifth Kaline had forced hesitating Frank Robinson of Cincinnati at second after making a fine scoop of Mathews' smash after he trapped the ball.

Kaline also got two hits, driving in two runs with a ninth-inning single. Harvey Kuenn, other Detroit starter, walked with the bases loaded in the second to get credit for a run batted in. Detroit's Charlie Maxwell came through with a pinch single in the fourth.

Yogi Berra, suffering through a half season slump, drove in his first All-Star run in nine games with a single, following Bill Skowron's double in the sixth.

A crowd of 30,692 that paid a gross gate of $122,027—net $104,349—sat in bright sunshine as the two teams played their third game at St. Louis. Early morning showers failed to dampen the enthusiasm of this "mad about the Cardinals" town.

Stengel threw six pitchers into the fray, everybody except his own Bobby Shantz. Alston used five, with starter Curt Simmons of the Phillies taking the loss.

Twenty one of the Nationals' 25-man squad got into the game and 19 of the Americans. The five Cincinnati starters who were voted into the lineup by a tremendous surge of ballots contributed two of the nine hits.

Nationals Rout Pierce in Ninth

But Bell, picked for the squad by Alston after Commissioner Ford Frick ruled him off the starting lineup, came through with a two-run double.

The American broke through for two runs, charged to Simmons, in the second. Speedy Mickey Mantle outlegged an infield bouncer to Don Hoak, Cincinnati third baseman, for the first hit of the game. He moved to second when Ted Williams, playing his 13th All-Star game, walked on a 3-2 pitch.

Vic Wertz, Cleveland first baseman, singled past shortstop Roy McMillan of Cincinnati into left field, scoring Mantle for a 1-0 lead. After Simmons, struggling with his control, walked Berra on four pitches to load the bases, Alston brought in Lew Burdette, veteran Milwaukee righthander.

Burdette retired Baltimore's George Kell and Bunning. But then he passed Kuenn on a 3-2 pitch to force in Williams with the second run.

Burdette shut out the Americans for the rest of his stay. But they cashed another run in the sixth after Jack Sanford, young Philadelphia righthander, had taken over.

With one out in the sixth, Skowron doubled off the screen in front of the right field pavilion. Sanford uncorked a wild pitch, moving Skowron to third and he romped home when Berra singled to left.

The Americans got to Labine, Alston's top relief man, for three more runs in the ninth.

Pierce got an infield hit on a slow roller that Schoendienst failed to hold at second base. Schoendienst dropped Gil McDougald's slow roller for an error as he turned to throw to second. After both moved up on Fox's sacrifice, Kaline singled to center, driving home both Pierce and McDougald.

Labine struck out Mantle, the first strikeout for the American League hitters. But Minoso doubled to deep right center at the base of the wall scoring Kaline.

Vandals' Game of Dodge-Cars Makes Junk of Golf Carts

MIAMI BEACH, Fla., July 9 (AP)—Vandals, apparently teenagers, played a wild and expensive game of "dodge cars" with caddy carts over the lush greens and fairways of the swank LaGorce golf course here during the weekend, police reported today.

Officers said the vandals evidently broke into a garage where the caddy cars, normally used by golfers to transport themselves and their clubs around the course, were kept.

Robert L. Ahern, concessionaire and owner of the cars, said 11 of the vehicles were found strewn around the 6,000-yard course. He said all were smashed. Ahern rents 75 of the cars, valued at $1,200 each.

"It looks like they drove into one another head on," Ahern said. "They ran into trees, ditches, sand traps and raced over the fairways."

The electric-powered cars can reach speeds of 10 to 12 miles per hour.

Golf course officials said the cars also did serious damage to the well-kept greens, digging them up and rutting them.

Police said they believed juveniles were responsible for the vandalism.

KICKS AT TECH

2nd Grader Applies Old Knee-Action

Second-grader Bob Christian, smallest fellow on the lot, put a new wrinkle in the kicking game at Tuesday's session of Georgia Tech's football clinic for youngsters.

Better still, you might say he added a bit of knee-action to conventional punting procedure.

"We noticed when we were teaching him the steps that he was kicking the ball with his knees," Coach Lew Woodruff said. "It didn't take him long, though, to catch on and start learning the finesse of punting," Woodruff added proudly.

The little guy, who the coaches figure doesn't weigh 50 pounds, has become a big favorite of the class.

About his previous football "experience" in a boys' league, Bob reported, "All we ever did was get the ball and pile on each other."

"We are extremely well-pleased with the progress the boys are making," Woodruff said. "Some of those kids will fool you with their skill."

Sixty-five boys were on hand Tuesday, just about the right size for good instruction.

Barnett Gains Bama Finale

MOBILE, Ala., July 9 (AP)—Kathey Barnett of Atlanta, Ga., advanced to the finals in the junior girls' division of the Alabama state tournament Tuesday when Barbara Alison of Alexander City, Ala., defaulted after winning the first set, 6-1, and trailing in the second by 4-2.

She will meet Carol Ann Vest, Jackson, Miss., who downed Atlantan Mary Ann Connerat, 6-4, 6-4.

Atlantan Bill Hardcastle defeated Bobby Bodden, Mobile, 6-1, 6-1, but lost to Drayton Nabors, Birmingham, 6-2, 6-2, in the junior boys' quarter-finals.

Hardcastle and Neil Marcus of Tampa, Fla., won a third-round doubles match from Keith Hoffman and Bee Wood of Mobile, 6-0, 6-0.

Bob Hardcastle, Bill's brother, advanced to the forth round in the 15-and-under singles with a 6-3, 6-3 triumph over Bob Krintzman, Baton Rouge, La., 6-3, 6-3.

Weir Twirls No-Hitter

Buddy Ragsdale's Adamsville City Junior Leaguers trounced English Park No. 2, 19-0, Tuesday behind the no-hit pitching of Kenneth Weir. Jim Inman, with four hits, and Johnny Dunstan, with three, led the Adamsville hitting.

Discounters Win, 8-1

Southern Discount beat Woodland Hills, 8-1, Tuesday in a 17-and-under Sandlot League game. The game was shortened to five innings. Wayne Shields and Johnny Gorman combined to stop Woodland Hills on three hits.

'Must' Inspection Of Poultry Passes

WASHINGTON, July 9 (AP)—The House passed and sent to the Senate today a bill to require compulsory government inspection of poultry and poultry products.

Passage was by standing vote of 93-23. A similar bill has been passed by the Senate, which now must decide whether to accept the House version or send the two bills to conference.

The bill would subject poultry and poultry products entering interstate commerce to the same inspection standards which have been applied on red meat for many years. It would not normally affect poultry sold or processed within a state, but would allow the Agriculture Department to require inspection in major consuming areas even on poultry which does not come from outside the state.

Neither would it cover the sale or shipment of live poultry or sales by producers who process their own poultry and sell directly to household consumers. It would not apply to eggs or egg products or to game birds.

Inspections would be handled by the Department of Agriculture, which would pay inspection costs estimated at from 10 million to 20 million dollars annually.

The House Agriculture Committee, which endorsed the legislation, said the department would be required to employ such inspection procedures as not to slow processing operations.

Opponents claimed the bill might force small processors out of business because many of them would have to remodel their plants to meet standards fixed by the department.

But Rep. Watts (D-Ky), author of the bill, said small processors probably would benefit because they would receive at government expense the same inspection service now received and paid for by large processors who have voluntary inspection.

Rep. Sullivan (D-Mo) said the consuming public "has been victimized by being sold a lot of diseased, filthy, contaminated, unwholesome, unfit poultry, processed under unspeakable conditions, and sent out in the channels of trade to poison the unwary purchaser."

One Farm Acre of 3 In State Is Mortgaged

Georgia's farm mortgage indebtedness has reached nearly $155,300,000, an increase of some $1,186,600 a year since 1950.

The U.S. Department of Commerce reported Tuesday that during 1956 about every third acre of farm land, or 8,057,959 of a total of 24,092,943 acres, was mortgaged.

In 1950, the state's farm debt stood at $84,100,000, an average of $3.26 an acre. Last year it reached an average of $6.44 an acre, the department reported.

Twenty-seven other states had a larger farm mortgage indebtedness than Georgia at the end of 1956, the report said.

FINANCIAL VIEWS
Mart Judged More Stable Than in 1929

By ELMER C. WALZER
United Press Financial Editor

NEW YORK, July 9—Dissect the stock market for inflation and what have you got?

Industrials today are only 65 per cent above the 1946 level and 40 per cent higher than the 1937 peak.

But this group is 12 per cent under the top touched in 1929.

Those figures come from the research department of the stock exchange of Francis I Du Pont & Company.

According to the calculation, the current industrial average translated into terms of the consumer price index (based on 1947-49 equal to 100) works out at 432. The 1946 average high of 213.36 becomes 261 and the 1937 peak of 195.59 becomes 308. The 1929 (intraday) of 386.10 becomes 491.

INFLATION PROTECTION

Du Pont draws two conclusions:

1. "It is clearly evident the holders of shares of American industry have been protected over the past postwar decade from the ravages of inflation."

2. "Even allowing for the loss in the worth of money, the stock market in recent years has had a sharp advance and accordingly discounts, to some extent, the improved underlying factors.

According to the study, it is indicated the market inflation is not as great as that of 1929 even now.

Thus it would appear the market has farther distance to travel before getting top-heavy.

What it will do and what effect inflation will have are the problems.

BASIS OF FLUCTUATION

The Du Pont study says the market historically fluctuates on the basis of the over-all economic picture and the fortunes of individual companies.

"Unless and until a much more violent stage of inflation is witnessed, which would have to be predicated on features which do not appear inherent in our American economic sphere," the firm says, "indications are that the judgment of investors will still be based, to a major extent, on price-times-earnings ratios, yields, comparisons with book values and growth potentialities for individual industries and equities."

Thehre is talk that inflation pressure is lightening—a factor which last week brought better demand for bonds.

Some in Wall street regard less pressure on the money market as favorable to both stocks and bonds.

Farm-Plant Cooperation Is Stressed

Cotton Executive Warns on Politics

Constitution State News Service

COVINGTON, July 9 — A top Georgia textile spokesman today urged that cotton farmers and manufacturers, whom he termed "partners in progress and prosperity," work together to avoid becoming "the victims of political manipulation and economic indiscretion."

T. M. Forbes of Atlanta, executive vice president of the Cotton Manufacturers Assn. of Georgia, outlined their "mutual" problems and goals in an address prepared for delivery before some 300 Georgia vocational agriculture teachers attending their annual summer conference at the nearby state FFA-FHA Camp.

Forbes said that constructive cooperation between cotton farmers and industry can do much to offset "the great political temptation to impose both burdensome taxes and destructive legislation upon corporate business—particularly manufacturing plants."

He termed Georgia's county unit system "a strong bulwark against the corrupting influence of city political machines, as it retains the control of our government in the hands of the sensible, conservative citizens who make up our rural and agricultural population."

Discussing the effects of Georgia's industrial growth on the state's farm people, Forges concluded that the resulting creation of new wealth has "more than made up" employment losses and other impacts on the agricultural economy.

Banks See Good Prospects Throughout Next 6 Months

NEW YORK, July 9 (AP)—The nation's bankers are optimistic about general business prospects during the second half of 1957, the Credit Policy Commission of the American Bankers Assn. reported today.

Results of the semi-annual survey were announced by George S. Moore, commission chairman and executive vice president of the First National City Bank of New York.

The current report finds bankers expect a period of stable, high activity, with employment, income and credit demands remaining much as they are. There is no evidence that a boom is expected on top of the present prosperity.

Moore said the survey established that automobiles, housing and agriculture seem to give less concern than at any time in the past year or so.

A few industries, notably tobacco and textiles, were singled out as facing special problems but, the report indicated, industry has become so diversified that the good and bad tend to balance out to a broadly favorable prospect.

The survey showed that demand for credit is expected to remain high and constant in the second half, with some chance of a moderate rise in certain sections due largely to seasonal factors.

Mortgage loans, however, were the exception. Most bankers expected them to decline slightly.

Cotton Eases In Slow Deals

NEW YORK, July 9 (AP) — Cotton futures eased in slow dealings today. Final prices were 15 cents a bale to 80 cents lower, with only old crop July showing a gain.

Favorable private reports on weather conditions in the cotton belt induced some commission house selling, but declines in the 1957 crop deliveries were checked by trade buying.

The 1958 crop trading months were off about $1 a bale during the afternoon before a mild rally developed on professional short covering.

Senate Group Approves Cocke For FDIC Post

WASHINGTON, July 9 (AP)—The Senate Banking Committee today approved the nomination of Erle Cocke Sr. of Atlanta as director of the Federal Deposit Insurance Corporation.

Sens. Russell and Talmadge, testifying at a public hearing just before a closed-door session, praised the selection of Cocke to succeed the late Maple T. Harl. Cocke is president of the American Bankers' Assn., vice chairman of the Fulton National Bank of Atlanta and a past national vice commander of the American Legion.

Cocke testified he accepted the nomination because he considered it "a challenge" and an opportunity to serve the nation. He said his long career as a national banker would not projudice him against state banks, which he termed "the backbone of the banking industry."

Butter and Eggs

ATLANTA EGG MARKET (USDA-GDA)

Eggs: Market fully steady on large, steady on balance. A good distributive movement continued to prevail. Current hot weather has instilled buyers to become more quality conscious. Receipts were of light to moderate proportions with transactions on whites consisting primarily of arrivals from nearby producing points whereas arrivals of mixed colors constituted receipts from Midwestern producing areas. Offerings of large from nearby points barely adequate, mediums more than adequate and smalls fully adequate for present needs. Prices paid by first receivers, delivered Atlanta, cases included. (includes nearby produced) (min. 80 per cent A quality) whites large 36c; medium 28c; small 20-21c. Browns too few to report. (Min. 70 per cent A quality) mixed colors large 33-35c; medium and small too few to report. Prices to retailers, consumer grades, cases included, store-door delivery, cartoned, min. one-case sales (includes direct sales by nearby producers) grade A large white 43-51c, mostly 45-47c; large brown too few to report; large mixed colors 39-45c, mostly 42-43c. Medium whites 37-44c, mostly 38-40c; medium brown too few to report. Medium mixed colors 35-40c, mostly 36-39c. Small white 28-35c, mostly 28-30c. Small brown too few to report. Small mixed colors too few to report.

Rails Hold Rally of Their Own But Most Key Issues Fall Off

NEW YORK, July 9 (AP)—The stock market backed away a bit from its new 1957 high today in fairly active trading.

Key issues dropped fractions to about 2 points. But there was a sprinkling of gainers among the pivotal stocks.

Rails, which have been well behind the soaring industrials in the recent advance, had a rally of their own, making gains of as much as a point or so.

Among specialitites there was diverse action, with some fairly wide gains and losses.

The market was higher at the outset in a carry-through from yesterday's vigorous rise to a new 1957 peak. In the first quarter hour the high-speed ticker tape fell briefly behind the pace of transactions. Once the pile-up of orders was out of the way, however, prices began to fall.

It was an obvious case of profit-taking, brokers said, as many investors cashed their gains rather than await the chance of the market achieving a new historic high. Today's performance placed a period after seven straight days of advancing averages. The late ticker tape early today and late yesterday had all the earmarks of a temporary climax to the upsurge.

While the general run of business and economic news remained fairly good and reports on the outlook for the rest of the year continued confident, today's reaction was put down as mainly technical.

The trend was lower on the American Stock Exchange. Volume totaled 900,000 shares compared with 1,010,000 yesterday. The losers included Woodley Petroleum, Mead Johnson, Hazeltine and Fairchild Camera.
